NOTE OF GOOD WILL SOUNDED AS TRADE TREATY IS SIGNED

President Roosevelt Leads in Expressions of Hope And International Friendship When Names of U.S. and Canadian Representatives Attached in Ceremonial Scene at White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (P).—Canada held the spotlight in Washington this afternoon, when Prime Minister Mackenzie King signed the reciprocal treaty which places trade between the two countries on a mutual basis for the first time in nearly three-quarters of a century.

Led by President Roosevelt in mutual expressions of hope, good will and amity as between nations, Mr. King and Secretary of State Hull wrote their names on two buff colored, bound volumes of the official text, while a dozen news cameramen recorded the historic incident.

PRESIDENT LOOKS ON

President Roosevelt and almost his entire Cabinet looked on while the signing took place. The ceremony was in the circular executive office of Mr. Roosevelt in the administration wing of the White House.

Details of the treaty must remain an official secret until Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when complete summaries and copies of the text will be made public simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington—to be released in Monday morning's newspapers.

Signing of the treaty brings to a

TWO APPEALS TO BE TAKEN

To Seek Longer Term for Pincos and Conviction Of Bernard

Attorney-General Sloan announced yesterday that he will enter appeals in two cases that were disposed of at the Criminal Assize, which closed here on Thursday. In the case of Rex vs. John Pincos there will be an appeal against the sentence imposed. In this case the trial judge gave the prisoner two years and a half, after the jury had brought in a verdict of manslaughter, reducing the charge from murder as it appeared in the indictment. The sentence is held to have been too light.

WILL SEEK CONVICTION

The other case to be taken to appeal is that of Rex vs. George Bernard in which the charge was of having been in possession of a safe and contents belonging to D. O. Cameron, knowing the same to have been stolen. In this case the jury found the accused not guilty. The verdict will be appealed on the ground that the verdict is against the weight of evidence offered. The appeals will come before the Court of Appeal at the next sitting which will open in Victoria on January 14.

NEWSPAPER PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Officers of Stratford Beacon Herald Guttered—Machinery Believed Badly Damaged

STRAITFORD, Ont., Nov. 15 (P).—Fire gutted the offices of The Stratford Beacon Herald tonight, with loss unestimated. Water damage to machinery in the composing and press rooms was believed to have been high. The cause could not be learned. The blaze was discovered in the basement shortly before 9 o'clock. Firemen fought the flames desperately, working in heavy smoke. The fire broke through the main floor in several places, spreading upward to second and third stories at the front of the building.

Ottawa Government Officially Imposes Sanctions on Italy

Order-in-Council Places Ban on Shipments of War Materials From Dominion, in Keeping With League of Nations Action

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (P).—The Government passed an order in council today imposing economic and financial sanctions against Italy next Monday, it was learned from an authoritative source tonight. Monday was set by the League of Nations as the day on which fifty-two nations would apply sanctions for Italy's invasion of Ethiopia. It is understood the sanctions were passed under the provisions of the Versailles Treaty.

If the edict is applied to the full recommendation of the League it will prohibit, exportation to Italy of arms, munitions and implements of war; prevent issue of loans or credits for Italy; restrict importations from Italy and exports of certain key industries. The latter might include iron, nickel, aluminum, chromium, manganese, tungsten, vanadium tin, rubber and transport-nimals. When Canada decided to adopt

Blazing Steamer Endangers Shipping

When the Spanish steamer Zabaibide, carrying a cargo of esparto grass, suddenly became a mass of flames as she was entering the Stalbridge Dock, Liverpool, recently, she threatened to set fire to many big liners. Blazing from stem to stern she broke clear of her moorings and drifted toward the side of the dock, and several large vessels had to be towed to escape the conflagration. So fierce was the fire that its reflection was seen over a radius of more than thirty miles. Here we see the blazing vessel in the dock.

MAYOR McGEER IS DECLARED ELECTED IN BURRARD RIDING

Vote Too Valuable To Be Discounted By Lack of Choice

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Nov. 15 (P).—C. L. Dent, retiring alderman, is willing to go back on the City Council—but he insists on fighting for it. Announcing he would not sit if elected by acclamation, Mr. Dent explained he took this stand "because I value too highly the franchise of a British subject."

Liberal Candidate Given Majority of Six Votes Over Arnold Webster, C.C.F., in Judicial Re-count—New Member Intends to Complete Mayoralty Term in Vancouver

Appeal Was Made on Strong Support for League Of Nations and Strengthening of Britain's Defences—Endorsement Is Unprecedented on Second Appeal of Administration for Support

LONDON, Nov. 15 (P).—The National Government has swept the boards. It has won a general election victory more resounding than even its optimists expected. It has created new records. When all the smoke is finally cleared away and the last count complete, the Government's clear majority will probably reach 260. Not before in the parliamentary history of Great Britain has a Government received such a vote of confidence after four years of service. It is also the first Government since the war which has won two successive general elections.

Meets Overwhelming Defeat in Seaham

RAMSAY MACDONALD, Lord President of the Council, who was badly defeated in Seaham on Thursday. It was stated last night that Prime Minister Baldwin would probably try to find a seat in Parliament for the former Prime Minister.

The Cabinet, however, suffered two casualties—the defeat of Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, in Seaham, and of his son, Malcolm, the Colonial Secretary, at Basethwaite.

HAVE NARROW MARGINS

Two other successful Cabinet ministers came perilously near defeat—Home Secretary Sir John Simon, whose narrow margin of 642 in Spens Valley came as a surprise, and Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, who had a majority of only two in the first count at the Kelvingrove division of Glasgow, although the second count increased it to 149.

SAFE AFTER FIGHTING ICE

Sailors and Lightkeeper Escape Perils of Frozen Lake Winnipeg

GYPSUMVILLE, Man., Nov. 15 (P).—Seven sailors and a lightkeeper were safe and sound tonight after many days spent in the frigid fastness of Lake Winnipeg.

Captain Roy Purvis and his crew of six from the icebound fishing boat Lu-Berc arrived here yesterday after a 200-mile dog team trek from their vessel at Pony Island.

The lightkeeper, David Sayer, from the lonely outpost of Cox's Reef, was reported safe at Berens River, ninety miles across the lake from here. He was stranded when freezing of Lake Winnipeg prevented a boat reaching him and his assistant.

LONG UNREPORTED

Captain Purvis and his men had not been heard from for fifteen days after leaving their boat. The Lu-Berc landed passengers and supplies at Eagle Island in the northern part of the lake and two days later was caught by the ice near Pony Island. On November 4 or 5, the crew abandoned the ship. The men who made the trip with their captain were, W. G. Purvis, a brother; Barney Goodman, Harry and George Sadison and Fred Floyd, all of Selkirk, Man., and Victor Borgford, of Arbor, Man. Wireless messages said the lightkeeper, Sayer, had never been in danger of starvation at his Cox Reef post and had been safe at Berens River all this week.

Gives Hope Of Finding Two Flyers

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Nov. 15 (CP-Havas).—The owner of a tin mine at Takouata, ten miles inland from the western Siamese coastline, telegraphed Royal Air Force headquarters here today he had seen an airplane resembling that of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, missing Australian airman, flying low over the region last Friday.

A squadron of bombing planes and two seaplanes will take off from here tomorrow to search the region. Sir Charles and his flying companion, Tom Pethybridge, disappeared last Friday on a flight from the Indian mainland to Singapore.

Ethiopian War Lord Hurries to Defence Of Threatened Jijiga

City's Authorities Appeal for Aid as Italians Approach Near Striking Distance—Capture of Azbi Costly to Both Sides

HARAR, Nov. 15. — Ethiopia's southern war lord, Ras Nasibu, hurried to Jijiga today to take personal command of the defence of that key city, endangered by the advance of the Italian armies. Jijiga authorities appealed by telephone for aid, expressing fear that the Italian advance forces soon would be within striking distance of the city. Rumors were current here that fighting already had begun, with many casualties on both sides. The fall of Daggah Bur less than 100 miles south of Jijiga, appeared imminent. (Dispatches from Rome said even Harar, "second city of Ethiopia," is almost within the Italians' grasp. Harar is fifty miles west of Jijiga and with that city forms the principal defence of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad. Ethiopia's only modern outlet to the sea. ### CHANGE COMING IN NORTH CHINA

Plan Reported Forming With Japanese Intervention for Independent Government

PEIPING, China, Nov. 16 (P).—Major-General Kenji Doihara, of the Japanese army, conferred with Chinese authorities today, reporting on a plan to provide an independent government for North China.

North China appeared to be on the verge of far-reaching political changes which may partly or completely separate it from the National Government at Nanking.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency said telegrams have been sent out by leaders and business organizations demanding political independence from the Chinese Nationalist Government.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

The arrival of a Japanese armored troop train at Shanhaiwan was reported to be a precautionary measure against possible civil outbreaks in this area. Japanese officials said they had no intention of an invasion and expressed alarm at reports of a northward movement by troops of the Nanking Government in Honan Province.

MAY TAKE VOTE ON NEW ORDERS

Maritime Workers Plan Strike Ballot on Coast As Protest Measure

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15 (P).—Threats of a Pacific Coast maritime strike vote in protest against Merchant Fleet Corporation orders issued at Washington were announced by officials of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific here today.

The federation's present special conference was declared "seriously considering" a strike vote by Merwyn Rathbone, secretary of the federation's San Francisco Bay area council.

He charged that the Merchant Fleet orders nullified the Roosevelt administration's policy of collective bargaining, as no unions were consulted. He asked for complete information on the orders before the federation convention adjourns next Tuesday.

FEARS INFLUENCE

Rathbone stated that the Merchant Fleet Corporation's orders did not apply to the Pacific Coast, but charged the influence would extend to the West and threaten wages, hours and working conditions won in last year's strike.

Meanwhile, the Maritime Federation delegates continued study of the so-called "hot cargo" question which has caused three ships to be tied up at San Pedro. The longshoremen there refused to work the ships because they carried cargo from Gulf of Mexico ports, where dock workers are on strike.

AVIATOR MAKES MERCY FLIGHTS

Two Men Taken by Plane From Northern Manitoba to Winnipeg Hospitals

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15 (P).—Two men from Manitoba's northern gold fields were in hospital here tonight after mercy flights by Ted Stull, pilot of Wings Ltd.

W. B. McDonald, mine captain for Kneke Lake Gold Mines at Kneke Lake, Man., is suffering from sleeping sickness and is in hospital here. Jack Hough, master mechanic at Kneke Lake Gold Mines at God's Lake, lost an eye as the result of an accident and was flown here from Kneke Lake, where he had received medical attention.

Both Kneke Lake and God's Lake are in the mining area, 300 miles northeast of here. Pilot Stull made the flights yesterday and today.

IS SAFE AFTER FLYING MISHAP

Jean Batten Forced Down By Leaky Tank—Found By Searchers

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 15 (P).—Jean Batten, plucky young New Zealander, arrived in Rio de Janeiro today, long overdue and in another plane, but the proud claimant of a new record.

She was forced down in a salt swamp near Praia Seca, Brazil, about fifty-three miles north of here, yesterday, while flying here after becoming the first woman to fly solo across the South Atlantic. In conquering the ocean, she said today, she found she had established a speed record for the route—down regularly by German and French mail planes. She also broke Capt. James Molison's old record for a flight from England to Natal, Brazil.

FUEL TANK LEAKING

Miss Batten was making good time along the coastline on her flight to Rio yesterday, when she suddenly discovered her fuel tank was leaking.

"Nothing remained but a forced landing at the most likely spot," she said. "Sand dragged my wheels, tipping the plane, and the propeller cut into the sand and one of its tips was bent."

She was located by one of three army planes, which had searched for her when she failed to arrive last night. She was flown here today. She expects to fly from here to Buenos Aires when her plane is repaired.

MINE PROPRIETOR AND SON DROWNED

James A. Cullinane and Maurice Cullinane Lose Lives When On Hunting Trip

NELSON, Nov. 15 (P).—James A. Cullinane, of Roseland, proprietor of the Wilcox Mine at Ymir, and his nineteen-year-old son, Maurice, who left several days ago on a hunting trip into the Kettle River country, were found drowned in the Kettle River today.

The Cullinanes became separated from Frank Moline, and unable to locate the pair, Moline sought the aid of the police at Greenwood. Discovering tracks ending at one side of the river, they began dragging operations. Later the bodies were located in fifteen feet of water.

Policeman Breaks His Leg on Skis

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15 (P).—George "Scotty" Finlayson, West Vancouver police patrolman, was resting comfortably in the General Hospital today after being hauled for six hours on a sled over the rough trails of Hollyburn Ridge with a broken leg. One of the points of his skis ran deep into the snow, throwing him heavily and fracturing his leg.

Sweepstakes and Insurance Among Topics Debated

Hospitals Convention Turns Down Scheme of Financing as Unsound—Will Seek Compulsory Measures for Motorists—Increase in Municipal Charges Will Be Urged

HOSPITAL sweepstakes, public liability insurance on motorists, municipal hospital charges and expressions of thanks were the subjects included in resolutions brought before the annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association at its closing session in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Charles F. McHardy, of Nelson, sponsored the motion that the Dominion Government be asked to amend the Criminal Code, so that sweepstakes might be held for the purpose of assisting in the financing of hospitalization. He said he knew of a sweepstake that had enabled a hospital to wipe out a $12,000 debt.

The resolution, however, failed to get support, the general opposition to it being that to endorse such a motion would show lack of confidence in the Government's support of hospitals, and that it might impede the progress now being made toward the establishment of state health insurance. Further, it was contended that the method of financing through sweepstakes was not a sound one.

The convention adopted a motion sponsored by E. S. Withers, of New Westminster, that the Provincial Government be asked to make it compulsory for all motorists to carry public liability insurance.

In another resolution, the convention also sought power from the Government to have insurance companies pay hospital bills and deduct the amount from the insured's policy.

It was pointed out to the members at the convention that hospitals suffered heavy financial losses as a result of motor accident cases, and that the legislation should be strengthened to protect hospitals.

The convention reiterated its stand taken at the last convention when it asked the Provincial Government to compel payment of $1.25 per diem charges by municipalities, which have no hospitals.

At present these municipalities, with those that have hospitals, only contribute 70 cents a day for every patient.

The resolution specified that in the event that state health insurance is not established at the next session of the Legislature, the charge of $1.25 be made to municipalities that have no hospitals.

Resolutions of thanks were extended to the following for their co-operation and assistance in the holding of the convention in Victoria: Dr. Harvey Agnew, secretary of the Canadian Hospital Council; Dr. M. T. MacEachern, director of the American College of Surgeons; directors of the Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals, the ladies' auxiliaries, exhibitors, the press, the staff of the Empress Hotel and those who gave papers and contributed to the discussions.

Some Sidelights of British Elections

(By the Canadian Press)

The white-haired leader of the Lloyd Georges was the only one of the family to increase his majority. He topped his 1931 margin by more than 4,000 in winning Carnarvon district with 9,609 votes to spare. Daughter Megan lost forty-five in Anglesey, where her majority was 4,182, and son Grifflin dropped 3,972, but won Pembroke by 1,074. However, in Carnarvon, Major G. Owen, fourth member of the Lloyd George group, increased his majority by 803 to 1,497.

Solicitor-General Sir Donald Somervell defeated J. W. Bowen, Labor, in Cheshire, to increase the list of high Government officials returned. The Solicitor-Generalship is not a Cabinet position.

FACED TWO OPPONENTS

Holder of another non-Cabinet position, the Ministry of Mines, Capt. H. Crookshank faced Labor and Liberal opponents in Lincolnshire, Gainsborough. He came through safely with a reduced majority.

Sir Godfrey Collins, the Secretary for Scotland, withstood the assault of a Laborite and a Scottish Nationalist in Greenock. Sir Godfrey is a Liberal-National.

Ayr and Bute-Kilmarnock nearly trebled the 1931 majority of National Laborite Kenneth Lindsay, Civil Lord of the Admiralty. One of his three rivals was Jennie Lee, of the Independent Labor Party.

BIG MAJORITIES CUT

In Brighton, where Postmaster-General G. C. Tyrone and Sir Cooper Dawson were Conservative running-mates, the reverse was the case. Their enormous majorities of 62,000 in 1931 were cut by just about two-thirds.

W. W. Wakefield, Conservative victor in Swindon over Christopher Addison, former Labor Minister of Agriculture, is in the habit of listening to the plaudits of crowds but in a very different sphere. For years the Royal Air Force Rugby captain was the idol of rugby enthusiasts in England and led his country in international battles from 1920 to 1926.

SPEAKER RETURNED

Northampton, Daventry—Capt. E. E. Bell, president of the Saatchi Liberal Association, was returned to office by acclamation at the annual meeting held in Mari-gold Hall last night.

Other officers chosen are as follows: Vice-presidents, R. Noble, P. Monkton and A. Humphries, and secretary-treasurer, C. D. Atkinson.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. T. D. Pattullo were named honorary presidents, and N. W. Whittaker, M.P.P., and Alan Chambers, honorary vice-presidents.

Mr. Whittaker introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. Gordon M. Sloan, K.C., Attorney-General, who gave an address on the Province's fight for better terms.

Mr. Sloan reviewed some of the historical background, pointing out how the completion of the C.P.R. to the Pacific Coast was not a demand made by this Province as a condition of Confederation. The transcontinental railway had been conceived as an Imperial and Canadian necessity long before British Columbia dreamed of entering Confederation.

B.C. PENALIZED

Yet, he said, this Province had been penalized for the completion of the railway to the Coast. British Columbia was the only Province that had to make a land grant to the railway.

He pointed out, too, how British Columbia had been given unequal treatment in the matter of the per capita debt when she joined Confederation.

These and several other highlights on a case that would take four or five days to present properly were brought out by the speaker, who claimed that already some admission of British Columbia's right to better terms had been made by the Dominion Government, which had granted a $750,000 interim subsidy until the matter could be finally adjusted.

TWO prominent speakers at the British Columbia Hospitals Association convention snapped underway in the conservatory at the Empress Hotel. The subject is evidently absorbing and probably medical.

At the right is Malcolm R. MacEachren, M.D.C.M., D.Sc., formerly of Lindsay, Ont., who completed his internship at the Royal Victoria, Montreal, became first resident physician in the Montreal Maternity Hospital, and then medical superintendent in the same institution, later medical superintendent of Vancouver General, and is now associate director of the American College of Surgeons at Chicago, while last month saw the publication of his authoritative work, "Hospital Organization and Management"—the first of its kind.

LUMBER TRADE IN B.C. GAINS

United States Chamber of Commerce Sees Large Increase in Exports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—While the lumber industry awaited provisions of the Canadian-United States reciprocal trade agreement, a Department of Commerce report today showed an increase of 928 per cent in water-borne lumber exports from the United States from British Columbia during the first nine months of 1935 compared with the same period last year.

Although details of the treaty have not been published, lumber representatives and others have predicted a 50 per cent slash in the total duties on lumber entering the United States from Canada. This amounts to $4 per 1,000 feet at present.

Water-borne imports from British Columbia during the first nine months of the year totaled 27,126,000 feet, while for the same period of 1934 such imports amounted to only 2,838,000 feet.

Water-borne lumber shipments from the province to the principal world customers for the same periods showed an increase to 737,512,000 feet from 732,802,000 feet.

Exports to the United States showed a loss of 3,611,000 feet during September, however, as compared with the August shipments, the department said, explaining that this was probably due to settlement of the Pacific Coast lumber strike.

After the strike domestic operators were able to supply a larger portion of domestic requirements.

Shipments from the province to world ports during the month totaled 95,041,000 feet, as compared with 61,965,000 feet for September, 1934; 97,801,000 feet for August, 1935; and 27,153,000 feet for July, 1935. United States shipments of Douglas fir, in the same general production area, were 63,438,000 feet in September, 1935, compared with 58,307,000 feet in September last year; 36,402,000 feet in August, 1935; and 13,477,000 feet in July, 1935.

BIRTHDAY FOR CABINET QUIET

Provincial Orders Cite Appointments and Small Salary Increases

With Premier Pattullo in Vancouver to attend a banquet of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, and several other members of the Cabinet away, the second anniversary of the present administration passed quietly here yesterday, without special observance.

Birthday orders—in council included a number of minor appointments to the Provincial service, and a few small increases in salary for probationers and others now taken on the permanent strength. No public announcement of major importance was issued during the day.

Orders provided for the appointment of Frank J. Bell, a clerk in the Kamloops agency, to Ashcroft of offices vacated through the death of William C. Adam.

OTTAWA GOVERNMENT IMPOSES SANCTIONS

Nickel was the only item on the banned list which bulked large in Canadian exports to Italy last year, being valued at $566,000.

ITALY PREPARING
ROME, Nov. 15 (AP).—The will of Premier Mussolini went into every village of Italy today to stiffen discipline and harmonize resistance to the League of Nations' economic siege.

Il Duce assembled the prefects of Italy's ninety-six provinces in a secret session and gave them orders for a fight against sanctions. His direct representatives, the prefects, must see that in every corner of the country Mussolini's wishes are applied. They are to co-ordinate their work with the Fascist organizations, whose millions of members are in touch with every family.

Pressure was increased everywhere with the sanctions barrier to drop Monday.

Unofficial reports said Italy's proposed air mail service to African colonies may be blocked through sanctions. Britain, these reports said, plans to abandon Imperial Airways to Italy on the route to India and also to withdraw permission for Italian mail planes to fly over Egypt, the Sudan and British Somaliland.

New taxes were decreed on imported coal, copper, tin and nickel. Such imports, which are under a special monopoly, must be licensed and will pay an additional 2-1-2 per cent if subject to a business turnover tax, and 10 per cent if they are exempt from that charge.

REPEATS HIS WARNING
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—Renewed Government warning to halt American trade with warring Italy and Ethiopia was applied today by Secretary of State Hull in another warning to exporters against sale of combat commodities to those countries.

Asserting there had been a "considerable increase" in American exports of oil, copper, trucks, tractors, scrap iron and steel, Hull flatly labelled such goods "war materials," and added:

"This class of trade is directly contrary to the policy of this Government as announced in official statements of the President and the Secretary of State, as it is also contrary to the general spirit of the recent Neutrality Act."

BOARD SEEKS REFERENDUM

Ratepayers' Executive Asks Vote on Police Board and Publicity Grant

Demands for a referendum on the Publicity Bureau grant and the police commission set-up will be officially before the City Council next Monday night in communications from the executive committee of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association.

The committee met at the City Hall last night to consider action on the bureau grant, and the commission, and gave unanimous support to resolutions calling for a vote at the municipal elections next month. The committee is the voice of the association by virtue of a ruling whereby the executive was given power to act in all matters pertaining to civic affairs without reference to the parent body.

ISSUES DEBATED
With J. Howard Chapman in the chair in the absence of the president, Fred Crowther, the committee moved through a number of routine matters that did not call for resolutions. The two principal matters were the police commission and the bureau grant, and both questions were fully discussed before the vote was taken.

Some years ago the police commission set-up was changed through application by the City Council to the Attorney-General's Department, and in place of an elective board, the presiding mayor, the police magistrate and County Court judge were substituted. Ald. Andrew McGavin, a former commissioner of police, addressed the executive and reviewed, in brief, the circumstances that led up to the council's action. He stated he would support any move, in council, for a referendum.

REVIVES MOVE
The executive, in sponsoring the move for a referendum on the publicity bureau grant, is following up an action instituted by the parent association three years ago when the first effort was made to allow the taxpayers to express their opinion on the grant, made annually by the City Council.

With regard to civic elections, the executive decided not to place candidates in the field. The members, however, pledged their individual support to Frank Leroy, who is a former president of the association, and seeking election to the City Council.

Members of the executive will attend the next meeting of the council in case the question of referendum should arise.

VICTORIANS GIVE FINE PROGRAMME
Mr. Mrs. and Miss Parsons Delight Audience at Duncan United Church

DUNCAN, Nov. 15.—Edward Parsons, organist of the Metropolitan Church, Victoria, with Mrs. Parsons and Miss Parsons, presented a delightful programme at the United Church on Wednesday evening.

In the organ numbers Mr. Parsons demonstrated the power and tones of the pipe organ donated to the Duncan church by David Ford. In response to insistent applause after his generous programme, Mr. Parsons played as an added number Handel's "Largo" from the opera "Xerxes."

Solos and duets from Mrs. and Miss Parsons were much appreciated, their well-chosen selections charmingly sung gave much pleasure to the audience. Rev. W. F. Burns, who introduced the programme, expressed thanks to the artists, Mr. Parsons replying.

BLACK EAGLE WOULD RESIGN FROM ARMY

WIDESPREAD AGITATION
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—While a veil of secrecy continues to hide from public knowledge details of the Canadian-United States trade agreement completed this afternoon, officials here commented on the widespread agitation in both countries, but particularly in United States, from those who fear their interests will be prejudiced.

It was emphasized here that President Roosevelt has power from Congress only to raise or reduce tariffs

MINISTER'S COMMENT
REGINA, Nov. 15 (AP).—"I think it will be well received in the West," was the only comment today by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture, on the trade treaty signed at Washington between the United States and Canada. Mr. Gardiner admitted he had rather extensive knowledge of the agreement, but would say nothing as to any details.

Chief Syme, last night, stated Hyzka admitted he escaped from jail at Pentiction, September 25, while waiting escort to Nelson jail to serve a sentence of twenty-three months for breaking and entering.

GOOD WILL SOUNDED AS TREATY SIGNED

conclusion negotiations opened last January and mooted much earlier. The negotiations were suspended during the course of the Canadian general election, but actively resumed two weeks ago and rushed to a conclusion by the visit of Mr. King to Washington last week.

"HISTORIC AGREEMENT"
Recalling that the treaty "places the trade relations between the two countries on a basis of mutual agreement for the first time since 1866," President Roosevelt said it was an historic occasion. "I am happy," he said, "to have a part in removing this anomaly in the relations between the two countries, which are united by so many bonds of friendship and common heritage."

Mr. King said the treaty would not only benefit North America, but "all the world will gain from greater trade on this continent. The agreement will, I am confident, confer benefits alike on the producers and consumers of both countries, while safeguarding every essential interest."

ECONOMIC SANITY
Secretary Hull, after reviewing briefly the rise and fall of trade between Canada and United States, said:

"While many other parts of the world are slipping in the direction of economic suicide, the trade agreement between our two countries marks an outstanding step in the direction of economic sanity."

Prime Minister King, who arrived from Ottawa at noon, went to the White House executive wing, accompanied by Hume Wrong, charge d'affaires at the Canadian Legation; Dr. O. D. Skelton, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, officials of the State Department, and members of the Canadian trade commission, who worked with the United States trade officials in writing the agreement.

OTHER WITNESSES
Present at the signing, in addition to those named, were Norman Armour, United States Minister to Canada, who traveled down from Ottawa last night with Mr. King, and the following Canadians: Hector McKinnon, Canadian tariff commissioner; L. D. Wilgress, chief of the foreign trade division of the Department of Trade and Commerce; Norman Robertson, member of the secretariat of the Department of Trade and Commerce, all of whom have been here for two weeks concluding the treaty; E. B. Pickering, private secretary to the Prime Minister, and Merchant Mahoney, commercial attaché at the Canadian Legation.

Today's treaty was said to be the acid test of the United States Government's trade expansion programme, sponsored by Secretary Hull. This was believed to be the most important of the trade agreements reached since President Roosevelt secured authority from Congress in June, 1934, to negotiate within a range of 50 per cent upward or downward.

CARS NOT AFFECTED
Motor cars are not expected to play any large part in the treaty at the present moment, in view of the steps now being taken by the Canadian Tariff Board to ascertain whether or not the Canadian car manufacturers can market their products at a price more in keeping with those prevailing in the United States.

Articles now on the free list in both countries will remain unchanged and doubtless some provisions will appear in the agreement to maintain their status quo during the life of the treaty. It is also anticipated that the Canadian Government will agree to abolish certain trade restrictions and uncertainties involved in the practice of fixing values for duty purposes and application of dumping duties.

POLICE HOLDING MAN FOR INVESTIGATION
John Hyzka was arrested in Victoria yesterday afternoon, and is being held for investigation at the request of Oak Bay. He was lodged in the city jail and will probably appear in Oak Bay police court this morning.

A TRIUMPH OF COMMON SENSE

The National Government has been sustained in power in Great Britain with a majority even greater than anticipated. The victory is not only a remarkable vindication of the policies pursued during the past four years, but also a mandate for a rearmament programme, for the continuance of British foreign policy as now devised, and for the maintenance of the continued march towards renewed prosperity which the British, above all other peoples, have enjoyed under their present regime. Labor never entered an election contest in the British Isles better equipped. That political party has been soundly beaten. It had sanguine hopes of increasing its representation in Parliament by over 200 seats. The actual result has fallen far short of its anticipations. The British people prefer to depend upon the security of their present institutions rather than indulge in Socialistic experiments.

It was axiomatic that the great majority that the National Government enjoyed would be reduced. It was, moreover, certain that Labor would be the chief gainer at the expense of the National Administration's supporters. In the main the people's verdict is much as expected, but it is more emphatic than even the most optimistic believed it would prove. It is the completest possible answer to those continental critics who claimed that the National Government did not represent public opinion and that its foreign policy might be proportionately discounted. The fact is that Thursday's verdict will, as nothing could have done, strengthen Great Britain's power and prestige in the councils of the nations, and particularly at Geneva, with added emphasis lent to her power because of the determination to strengthen the means of her defensive security.

A feature of the election has been the loss of strength of the Liberal Party in opposition to the Government. Its chief, Sir Herbert Samuel, suffered defeat in the Darwin division of Lancashire, and many of his supporters were overwhelmed at the polls. There are more Liberals elected supporting the National Government than those in opposition, which speaks volumes for the lack of influence exercised in the course of the campaign by such personalities as Lord Snowden and Mr. Lloyd George. The latter, indeed, cannot be said to be any longer a political factor in the country. Liberalism, save so far as it supports a National Administration, has not only fallen on evil days but any prospect it had of securing the reins of power may be said to have almost ceased to exist. It is a tragic outcome of the fortunes of a once great political party which is now definitely, and perhaps irrevocably, replaced in British politics by the advocates of Socialism. It has been weak leadership and inability to grasp the trends of public opinion that have led to such a happening.

Two Ministers of the National Cabinet went down to defeat, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the former Prime Minister and now Lord President of the Privy Council, and his son, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald. The ex-Prime Minister has been badly beaten, but he remains no less a personality in defeat than he was in victory. It was no secret that Seaham would reject the Labor leader in the National Government in Thursday's election. He was urged to test his fortune in a safer seat, but he determined again to take the risk that he took in 1931. He has the satisfaction of knowing that if he decides to remain in politics a seat will be found for him, and there is his record which no adverse verdict of any particular constituency can obliterate. It was while he was head of the National Government that over a million persons were put back to work, that over a million houses were built throughout the country, that cheap borrowing, which is the lifeblood of industry, was made possible, and that British prestige was raised to enviable heights abroad through the balancing of the budget and other constructive measures.

From the purely political-party standpoint the honors of the campaign again rest with the Conservatives. They remain the backbone of the National Government, and thus afford another illustration, if any were needed, that when Great Britain faces international perils and difficulties it is invariably to the Conservatives that the people turn to preserve their liberties and to achieve their salvation. The verdict, therefore, is in accordance with historical precedent and principle, and the fact that Conservative thought dominated returns is the conclusive answer of the British people to the demands made on their credulity to engage in experiments of a doubtful and radical character.

Fortified by public opinion, the British Government can now go ahead and strengthen its defensive forces, consolidate the measures necessary to national security and make its influence felt on the continent of Europe to a greater degree than at any time during several months past. Its attitude towards the Italo-Ethiopian War has been approved and the consequent decision to impose sanctions on Italy. Domestic legislation, already in effect and projected, has been sanctioned by the popular vote. The methods whereby, through the operations of the League of Nations and by disarmament conferences, Great Britain has been pursuing a peaceful policy have received public endorsement. What is perhaps most important of all to the British people themselves is that the internal policies to be pursued by no other nation since the advent of the years of depression. The soundness at heart of the British people was given admirable expression at Thursday's polls.

SWEARING

It is a low type of mentality that cannot carry on a conversation without interlarding it with the use of oaths and expletives. There is not even the excuse of a vacuous and stilted vocabulary.

In visualizing the person who continually uses oaths there is evidenced a deformed mind. Oaths, even to the point of blasphemy, are used for the purpose of forcefulness, sometimes because people feel strongly, and always by those who are not sure of themselves, for in cases where there is sureness there can never be any need of violence in language. The force of language lies in its content, not in the volume of sound, and the next worst exhibition of intellectual raggedness to the use of expletives is the use of superlatives. Loud and harsh speaking usually accompanies swearing. It is thought to be a brave thing to raise the voice, yet that practice is the very opposite to clear thinking and a firm will. Where there are straight-flung words and few, there is never any need of the embellishment of swearing. It is a work of supererogation, and like overstatement and other forms of violence of expression, it defeats itself. The frame of mind which cannot express itself without the use of expletives and swearing is simply indulging in argot, not in strong language. Its exponents in most cases are simply looked upon with pitying contempt or disgust by the strong minded. The reason why so many cannot raise their conversation to a higher plane is explained in the analysis of their state of mind by The London Times, which says:

"The redemptive absurdity of this frame of mind is the habitual use of expletives. There can be no other explanation of the widespread practice of interlarding quite trivial and peaceful conversation with oaths which run the whole gamut from the meaningless and merely silly to the blasphemous and the obscene. Even respectable and worthy citizens at least know all the ordinary swear words, and, if doctors and nurses are to be believed, are capable of an astonishing range of profanity under the influence of an anaesthetic. Of those who indulge in profanity without that excuse, very few can consciously and sincerely intend an oath to mean what it says on the face of it. The habit probably began because the speaker at some impressionable age felt that he had to make good in the company of others already used to eking out the poverty of their thought by expletives of apparent violence. The boy at school feels that he is a big fellow if he rips out an oath or two. The young workman is afraid that his mates will think him a milkop if he never swears. So the obnoxious words creep in, affix themselves like parasites to every utterance, and stay there long after they have been drained of every vestige of sense and import that they may ever have had."

NATURE'S HISTORY

Nature will be reported. All things are engaged in writing their history. The planet, the pebble, goes attended by its shadow. The rolling rock leaves its scratches on the mountain; the river its channel in the soil; the animal its bones in the strata; the fern and leaf their modest epitaph in the coal. The falling drop makes its sculpture in the sand or stone. Not a foot steps into the snow or along the ground but prints in characters more or less lasting, a map of its march. Every act of the man inscribes itself in the memories of his fellows, and in its own manner and face. The world is full of sounds, the sky of tokens; the ground is all memoranda and signatures; and every object covered over with hints which speak to the intelligent. —Emerson.

ETERNAL SPRING

If shadows darken roads which lie ahead:
As ages roll and sorrows come instead
Of only moons upon a placid sea,
I'd loose the bonds and set my spirit free.
And if there were the graves along the years,
I'd reach for stately heights to baffle tears,
And would not grieve too long because a dream
Had ended; but I'd choose a brighter theme,
Enriching it with fragrance born of May
And find adventure in each glorious day.
I'd follow in my dreams the eager wing
And etch upon my heart Eternal Spring.
—Ramona Moore, in "The Spinners."

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The ruling passion, be it what it will,
The ruling passion conquers reason still.
—Pope.

Human beings are funny creatures. Insects are peculiar creatures; they are not funny, and we suspect they have no sense of humor. If in doubt upon that point, stir up the nests of hornets and wasps, preferably the nest of hornets, for the latter are equipped with the hottest points or appendages. There are some things in common between human beings and certain families of insects. The human tribe has evolved political systems, social systems, and so-called economic systems. Insect tribes, such as bees, ants, hornets and wasps, also have their social and economic systems, acquired not through evolutionary processes, but probably because they were born or hatched that way. Insects have no political system. They administer their affairs by instinct. Human beings are supposed to administer their affairs by processes of reason and common sense.

"The wisest man the world ever saw" admonished human beings to consult the ant, consider her ways and get wisdom. So we shall assume that there is a wise old ant who has supervised the construction of a hill high enough from which to survey the world of mankind, and has been making notes of what is happening under our superior political system. What does this intelligent insect make of our political affairs? If he were endowed with a sense of humor and had the means of giving expression to his amusement, would he laugh in scorn or would he pay tribute to our political wisdom? Are our rulers at periodical or stated intervals stirring up political hornets' nests when they hold elections, or are they promoting sweet peace and benign concord throughout the world?

They are conducting a general election in Great Britain today, and during the preceding campaign the intelligent electorate have been behaving like a nest of hornets when stirred up. At the time of writing we do not know what the result of the buzzing, the humming, the stinging and the biting will be, but we shall hope for the best. In Canada we have lately passed through a period of similar turmoil, and while we also hope for the best, the results are at least in what in our profession is called the doubtful column. The reciprocity provisions of the treaty of trade and commerce between Canada and the United States have stirred up hornets' nests in both countries. The situation created reminds us again of that old fable about the man with the donkey who made the mistake of trying to please everybody and succeeded in pleasing nobody and losing his means of livelihood into the bargain. If all politicians were as wise as the wise old ant, they would do nothing without considering the possibility of reactions and repercussions. In both the United States and Canada we are reading today of reactions and repercussions, and there are rumblings of doubt and dissatisfaction far beyond the bounds of those two nations.

The big word Mesopotamia is not the only word which signifies comfort and security. There is also the word stability, which signifies assurance of permanence. Then there is a sentence which is pregnant with results. That sentence is: "leave well enough alone. Reciprocity may be pregnant of possibilities, but the new treaty is not predicative of stability or permanence. There is no assurance that just as soon as the trade which is going to be developed under reciprocity begins to flow in new channels there may be a change of government in the United States and the whole thing will be knocked into a cocked hat. Or the Supreme Court of the United States may declare in a judgment that the powers bestowed upon the President by Congress are invalid under the constitution, and what may happen in such a case, even if it be supposititious?

The new Prime Minister of Canada, although he has given personal assurance that the provisions of the reciprocity pact can have no effect upon Imperial trade as fostered under the Ottawa Agreements, the truth appears to be that the effect not only upon Imperial trade, but upon domestic business will be serious. And almost on the very day Mr. King was giving his comforting assurances, from one of his departments at Ottawa there were issued statements showing that, as a consequence of the Ottawa Agreements, Canada was doing a bigger business with the Mother Country than with all the other countries of the world, including the United States, and that the volume of this business was increasing every month.

The logic of the circumstances, therefore, would seem to be that the first consideration of the new Canadian Government should have been cultivating an assured market instead of experimenting with measures which may have the effect of stirring up a political hornets' nest in both the United States and Canada. The weakness of Liberalism in both Canada and the United Kingdom is that it is blind to the fact that international free trade is as dead as a good red herring.

They Know Their Winks

Read an interesting article the other day. It was short, to the point, but subject to argument from the fairer sex, and then again, probably it wasn't. It stated that men were more self-conscious than women when facing a camera. Of course, there's a lot of truth in it, because women can relax more easily before the lens, for the simple reason that they are more familiar with their outward appearance—having spent so much time before the mirror, they know themselves much better, every smile and wink. As a well-known American cameraman said: "We were aware of the rest of it, but don't tell us they rehearse those little winks as well."—J.D.

Proving His Need

An officer on a vessel, quite well known here, badly required a new typewriter, but the powers that be thought the old mill must do for another year or two. Tying a few fathoms of line to the typewriter, the officer threw it overboard and let it remain immersed twenty-four hours. When fished up and dried out in the sun, it positively refused to work at all. A requisition stating that a wave came through an open port and damaged the typewriter beyond repair soon brought an order for a new one.—G.B.

Penalizing Experience

An inherent weakness of the present elective system, it might be argued, is that while it takes two years to make a good district councillor, three to make an alderman, four a mayor, and five a cabinet minister, popular support falls the candidate just as his service to the state becomes well informed and real. For that reason, the largest part of public business is perpetually in the hands of the least experienced, and must remain so unless popular opinion changes. It requires ten years to turn a cub-reporter into a trained newspaperman. Is public business any less important—S.G.

SPEAKER HAS GOOD RECORD

F. W. Elo, of Seattle, Tells Local Underwriters of Production Plan

Fred W. Elo, of Seattle, assistant manager of the Phoenix-Mutual Life Insurance Company at that centre, was the guest of the Victoria and Island Underwriters' Association at a luncheon yesterday in Speedie's Cafe. The visitor is a very firm believer in systematic operation of the life insurance business and is one who follows the practice of consecutive production. In this connection, Mr. Elo had had 539 weeks of producing business without a break. This was followed by an illness, which made a break in his work, but since recovery, he has added another 150 weeks of consecutive production without a break in securing applications.

Mr. Elo told the meeting that he offered what he had to say largely as an encouragement to the younger men who entered the business. He urged them not to leave things to chance. Life insurance was, he said, like all other lines of endeavor, it must be conducted along business lines.

When he started he had set out as the objective to be reached $250,000 a year of business. This meant that on an average $5,000 of it must be secured a week. As a means of attaining this end, he made it a practice never to allow a week to close without at least one application being in hand. This did not mean that a man must be a life insurance machine and take no interest in anything else.

There were, said Mr. Elo, exceptional operators in the life insurance business. There were the $100,000 men, for instance. Yet when they investigated, it would be found that these latter were men in most instances who followed the consecutive producing plan. These men were very glad to accept a $4,000 application or even a $1,000 one. The incentive to secure an application a week prompted better work than the looking alone for large prospects. He had found in practice that many new policies came to his credit as a result of the system that would not have come had he not had this stimulus to go after the business.

The speaker urged the members to follow the system which he found so successful. Following the address, the members held a conference with the visitor, when discussion of some of the points raised took place.

Other features will be a sale of home cooking and of children's wearing apparel, and a novelty stall. An attractive programme under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. T. Ray has been arranged, with Miriam Schwabe, gifted young dancer of Victoria, as guest artist. It is the earnest desire of those connected with the auxiliary, and the president, Mrs. W. B. McKie, that all friends interested in furthering the club's excellent work attend this afternoon's entertainment.

Fortune Varies for Great Families With Political Traditions

Notable Success Won for Astors and Lloyd Georges, With Six Seats for Former and Three for Latter in House

LONDON, Nov. 15 (P).—England's great political families—the Astors, Lloyd Georges and the rest—counted a mixture of good and bad luck tonight, with nearly complete returns in yesterday's general election showing a notable success for the Astors and Lloyd Georges.

While the Ramsay MacDonalds went down under a deluge of votes that fell far short of smothering the National Government, and the four-strong entry from the Isaac Foot family—three Liberals and one Labor—took three defeats, Lady Astor led her Conservative relatives to a sweeping victory. The family gained six seats.

SIX IN THE FAMILY

Lady Astor, formerly Nancy Langhorne, of Virginia, first woman member of the British House of Commons, was re-elected in Plymouth Sutton. She has held the seat since 1919. Her son, Hon. W. W. Astor, won a seat for the first time, and four relatives were returned.

These were two brothers-in-law, J. J. Astor, Lieut.-Col. H. S. Spender-Clay, a son-in-law, Lord Willoughby de Eresby, and Ronald Tree, who married Lady Astor's niece. Tree is a grandson of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago. A member of the House of Lords, Viscount Astor brings the family's total parliamentary representation to seven.

DAVID AND FAMILY

Independent Liberals would be virtually without representation but for the family of former Prime Minister David Lloyd George. Late tonight only four Independent Liberals had been elected, and among them were the former Premier, his daughter, Megan, who was returned in Anglesey, and his son, Gwilym, winner in Pembroke.

The Chamberlain brothers, Neville and Sir Austen, Conservatives, again won their Birmingham constituencies; but the Churchills could only break even, Winston Churchill held Essex Epping for the Government, while his son, Randolph, failed to break through in the Labor stronghold of Liverpool West Toxteth.

DISASTROUS BLOW

The most disastrous blow delivered against any family ousted Ramsay MacDonald, former Prime Minister, and his son, Malcolm, Colonial Secretary. The veteran former Government leader suffered an overwhelming defeat by Labor in Seaham, once a MacDonald stronghold. Malcolm, who was promoted only recently to full Cabinet rank, lost to Labor in Basildon.

The Foot family had little success. John Foot, the father, was beaten in Cornwall Bodmin. He is a Liberal. One son, Dingle, also Liberal, was re-elected in Dundee, but John, Jr., lost in Hampshire Basingstoke, and twenty-two-year-old Michael in Monmouth Monmouth. Only Michael did not carry the Liberal banner. He ran for Labor.

MAN AND WIFE

The noted miner, Aneurin Bevan, who was given an acclamation in Monmouth Ebbe Vale in 1931, faced a Conservative opponent yesterday, but the Labor candidate piled up a 17,962 majority. His wife, the former Jennie Lee, failed, however, in North Lanark.

Sir Stafford Cripps increased his Labor majority in Bristol East, but his son, John, just past voting age, failed to capture Exeter for the same party. John Cripps' political speeches earlier this year were made in Ontario, where he campaigned for the C.C.F.

Only Guerrilla Warfare Impedes March

This leisurely "war" in Ethiopia which, according to correspondents, is not yet a war, but soon will be, goes on apace, with Italy not meeting with much opposition as she continues her slow advance into the interior. About the only determined stand the Ethiopians are taking is in guerrilla fashion, as the above picture illustrates. Familiar with this type of warfare, they harass the Italian armies from mountain ridges and behind boulders, where airplanes and artillery have little effect.

TOY HOSPITAL OPENS MONDAY

Victoria Boy Scouts to Again Conduct Campaign in Aid Of Needy Children

The Victoria Boy Scouts will again conduct their toy hospital for this Christmas season, it was announced yesterday by James Wise, district commissioner.

The toy hospital will be opened for business at 615 Yates Street on Monday. Toys, games, books, dolls and similar playthings are urgently needed by the Scouts.

At the hospital, toys will be re-conditioned and distributed at Christmas to needy children. Last year the Scouts distributed some 14,000 toys to 3,500 children in the Victoria and district area.

It is expected that well over that number of toys will be required this year and, accordingly, the Scouts are making an early start. Those having old toys and unable to bring them into the toy hospital are requested to telephone Garden 4332, Garden 3296 or Empire 1475, and arrangements will be made to call for them.

SMASHING VICTORY FOR GOVERNMENT

House of Commons since 1928, check-mated the Labor attack on his seat in Daventry with a majority of 8,167. It was the first time in forty years that any party challenged the convention that the Speaker should be given an acclamation.

LIBERALS LOSE HEAVILY

The Opposition Liberals lost their leader, Sir Herbert Samuel, also the veteran Isaac Foot, and their two chief whips, Sir Walter Rea and Harcourt Johnston. Sir Francis Liddel, another prominent Liberal, escaped defeat by only 836. The Opposition Liberals, who were only thirty at the dissolution, are now reduced to a handful.

Yet with its great victory the Government faces livelier opposition. The battle at the polls had the result of restoring to the Labor front bench five former Labor Cabinet members who have been out of Parliament for four years—Herbert Morrison, J. R. Clynes, A. V. Alexander, H. B. Lees-Smith and Thomas Johnston.

Some junior members of the last Labor Government were also successful. Among them were Hugh Dalton, P. O. Roberts, Thomas Kennedy, Emanuel Shinwell (who defeated Ramsay MacDonald), C. G. Ammon, Fred Montague, P. W. Pethick-Lawrence.

FAIL TO COME BACK

Wedgwood Benn, W. Adamson, Miss Margaret Bondfield, who were also in the last Labor Government, have failed to make a comeback.

David Lloyd George, his son, Gwilym, and his daughter, Miss Megan Lloyd George, were again successful. Winston Churchill was re-elected with an increased majority, but his son, Randolph, was defeated in West Toxteth, Liverpool.

James Maxton, leader of the Independent Labor Party, will be back again with three followers. Their stronghold is in Glasgow.

"It is a splendid result," declared Prime Minister Baldwin before leaving London tonight for a week-end at Chequers. "The country has renewed its support for the National Government."

"The results," commented C. R. Attlee, parliamentary leader of the Labor Party, "are disappointing if considered merely in terms of seats won."

JIMMY'S STILL THERE

"The old Empire is still going on all right," said J. H. Thomas, Dominion Secretary, and one of the few National Labor supporters of the Government who survived the election. "Jimmy's still there in spite of the black Friday."

As is not unusual, the popular vote was not quite out of harmony with party representation in the new House of Commons. Government candidates elected are more than double those of the opposition.

MEMBER-ELECT GIVES ADDRESS

J. S. Taylor Urges C.C.F. Supporters To Cultivate Friendship Of Opponents

"Keep your intellectual sword keen and sharp, make friends with your enemies and turn them toward the C.C.F. to help bring the day nearer when Canada will be the best place on earth to live in," J. S. Taylor, C.C.F. Federal member-elect for the Nanaimo riding, urged an audience in the C.C.F. Hall at Mount Tolmie last evening. Victor R. Midgley presided.

Day after day inventions were being perfected to do away with war, the speaker related. He believed that work as work was at an end, asserting that the C.C.F. long ago had visualized production for use, not for profit.

Urging the audience to keep in touch with changing times through the medium of the newspapers, books and magazines, Mr. Taylor told how the United States had evacuated Nicaragua and given up the idea of building a canal there. This happened, he said, when it became known that a second set of locks could be installed at Panama for $140,000,000 as against $700,000,000 for a canal through Nicaragua.

ATTACKS SOCIAL CREDIT

Rev. Robert Connell, M.P., spent some time attacking Social Credit and its leader in Alberta, Premier Aberhart.

"By the time voters have realized Mr. Aberhart is a weak and broken reed, there will be a decided swing to the sane and safe C.C.F.," he remarked.

"If Albertans had been trained to think, they would never have voted for Social Credit. Even Major Douglas does not understand Social Credit. People look to Douglas and Aberhart to lead them out of the wilderness like a prophet," he declared.

Mr. Connell asserted that persons were too gullible, credulous, and ready to believe a thing because everybody was saying it. He urged the audience to study literature, music, art, singing and history; and to make an endeavor to train their minds to analyze everyday problems.

HOW LEADERS FARED

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was returned by acclamation from his old stronghold of Bewdley in Worcestershire.

His first lieutenant, Ramsay MacDonald, is also leader of the National Labor Party, supporting the Government. MacDonald was Prime Minister from 1929 until June of this year, but today he suffered crushing defeat in Seaham, losing out to his former aide, Emanuel Shinwell, Labor, by more than 20,000 votes. He is the first former Prime Minister to be defeated since the late Lord Asquith went down at Paisley.

Sir Herbert Samuel, opposition Liberal chieftain, lost his seat in Darwen to a Conservative. He attributed his defeat to the intervention of a Labor candidate. Many of his followers suffered the same fate.

James Maxton, Independent Labor Party leader, who claims to have the lowest election expenses of any candidate in Britain, easily retained his Bridgton stronghold in Glasgow, where he was challenged by a Labor nominee.

Both Harry Pollitt, British Communist leader, and Reginald Kennedy, head of the two-candidate Social Credit forces, were badly beaten.

WITH LABOR LEADERS

C. R. Attlee, parliamentary leader of the Labor Party, and his predecessor, George Lansbury, raised their majorities far above the 1931 levels. Attlee represents the Limehouse division of Stepney, and Lansbury the Bow and Bromley division of Poplar, where he has spent most of his life.

Women candidates lost ground as results in all their constituencies were complete today. Only nine of the sixty in the field were successful, standing as follows: Six Conservatives, one Labor, one Independent and one Independent Liberal. Fifteen out of sixty-two were successful in 1931.

Three out of six Anglo-Canadian candidates were successful. Bartle Bull and A. Beverley Baxter were former Torontonians elected, and Capt. Peter MacDonald, a Nova Scotian, held his seat in the Isle of Wight. They are all Conservatives. Lord Duncannon was defeated in Islington East.

Fifteen seats will remain in the unreported column for several days. Some of these include scattered islands in the stormy waters of the North Sea, where ballots must be ferried to the mainland for counting next week. In several unreported seats the voting is also delayed for some time.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES AT MAKALE, Nov. 15.—Italian troops captured Asbi yesterday, but it was costly, the Fascist high command admitted tonight.

Overshadowing all other news of the engagement thirty miles northeast of Makale was the information that Colonel Belli had been killed. Fascist authorities revealed that three other white officers, as yet unnamed, and twenty Askaris had been slain and fifty Askaris wounded.

The clash followed a surprise Ethiopian attack from ambush while the Italians were passing through a narrow ravine in the mountains around Asbi.

SURVIVORS IN FLIGHT

AZBI, Ethiopia, Nov. 15 (P).—Survivors of an Ethiopian force which ambushed an Italian Danakil command and raked the desert fighters with machine-gun fire fled to the south today, leaving fifty-five dead.

Four Italian officers were wounded and twenty of their native troops were slain as the howling Danakils, swinging heavy curved swords, charged up hillsides under a rain of machine-gun bullets and engaged the Ethiopians in hand-to-hand combat.

The fighting lasted all day yesterday and finally the Ethiopians fled, presumably toward the main Ethiopian army between Antalo and Amba Alaji, to avenges of General Ruggiero and the pursuing Danakils, part of General Mariotti's command.

The two Italian forces, in a combined action, gained control of Asbi.

CONTRACT IS NOT AWARDED

Province Still Negotiating for 100,000 Barrels of Bridge Cement

No contract has as yet been awarded for the supply of cement to the $3,500,000 toll bridge project at New Westminster. Hon. F. M. MacPherson stated yesterday. Negotiations are proceeding, said the Minister of Works, for the purchase of 100,000 barrels of cement required for the undertaking.

When the British Columbia Government awarded the general contract for construction of the bridge through its agents, the Fraser River Bridge Company, to the Dominion Bridge Company, the supplying of cement was expressly excluded.

Work started some weeks ago on the south bank of the river in connection with the approaches, but, pending final approval from Ottawa, no work has been done in the river bed itself.

NEGOTIATIONS ON

Anticipating the next stage of the project, the Province, through its agents, is now negotiating for the supply of cement that will be required for foundations and piers, but, according to Mr. MacPherson, is experiencing some difficulty.

In previous announcements, it was said the Province hoped to buy its cement at around $2 a barrel, but has subsequently discovered the figure was a little low. For that reason, the Minister indicated yesterday, the cost of the contract has not yet been determined, nor formal award made.

WILL TRANSMIT WEATHER MAPS

New Service to Ships to Be Started by Short Wave Transmission

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (P).—Radio Corporation of America announced today it would begin, within a few weeks, the short-wave radio transmission, in facsimile, of weather maps to ships at sea.

Four German, American, Norwegian and Spanish ships will be equipped with receivers as they dock next year, the corporation said, and the United States Weather Bureau will begin to supply weather material for transmission immediately thereafter.

The R.C.A. announcement was made coincident with display of the facsimile apparatus today, at the second annual Marine Exhibition.

John McKenzie, New York dock commissioner, presided in an address at the Marine Exhibition, that each incoming trans-Atlantic liner soon will have at least two airplanes which will take off at sea to speed mails to shore in advance of docking.

Those who were paralyzed and unable to work were regularly entertained.

BURNS & CUTS.—Mr. Charles M. Dunham, Lynden, Ont., writes as follows:—"Shortly after receiving your sample of Zam-Buk I had occasion to use it on a burn, and it seemed that in no time the pain had entirely disappeared and there was not the slightest sign of a scar after the burn had healed, which was in a few days' time. Since obtaining such good results from your ointment, I have never been without having a box handy, and the slightest cut or burn doesn't escape Zam-Buk."

Public Health Work Is Development in Training of Nurses

B.C. Graduate Nurses' Association Discusses Changing Trends of Thought in Profession—Plans for National Convention Reported

MISS Harriet Smith, superintendent of nursing at Harborview Hospital, Seattle, addressed the British Columbia Graduate Nurses' Association last evening, at a largely attended meeting in the Nurses' Home of the Jubilee Hospital, and, as result of her talk, interesting discussion followed, dealing, in the main, with the subject of nursing education, public health nursing service, and other matters directly concerned with the profession.

Miss Smith spoke at length on the serious thought which is being given to education at the present time, particularly that of the nursing profession, in view of the changing trends along educational lines. Less emphasis was being placed on tests and more attention being paid to general social education in the training schools. Fewer and broader topics for study were being considered in an effort to increase the general interest and to broaden the outlook of the nurse.

CURRICULUM DISCUSSED
She quoted from the recommendations and findings of the American National committee which is giving serious thought to training school curricula, and more emphasis was advocated on such subjects as social sciences, biological and physiological sciences; mental hygiene, the well-child and child development, the family as an agency for promoting health, nutrition and food preparation for well people, certain disease conditions, nursing arts, the nurse's own health, and the cultural aspects of training.

The question of two-years preliminary college education was being discussed as being advisable, and in this connection Miss Helen Randall, of Vancouver, British Columbia Registrar of Nurses, spoke of the progress which had already been made in the province towards raising the educational standards of the student nurse. While admitting the narrowness of past training, she warned against too sudden steps being taken in making further changes.

Miss Grace M. Fairley, of the Vancouver General Hospital, drew the attention of members to the annual meeting of the National Registered Nurses' Association which will be held in Vancouver next June and at which the British Columbia nurses will be hostesses. She also made a strong plea for subscribers to the official organ of the association, "The Canadian Nurse," which could do much towards keeping nurses abreast of the times and cognizant of the trend of thought throughout the Dominion with regard to nursing. Regarding the proposed health insurance bill, she said that should it pass, it would undoubtedly increase the opportunity for nursing service.

She urged the younger graduates to make a point of placing their names on the Red Cross enrollment in case of national disaster or war.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK

The question of public health nursing raised a good deal of comment, and it was suggested that plans should be made whereby it be made possible for graduates to spend a certain amount of time with the visiting public health service nurses, the school nurses, or the Victorian Order of Nurses, and thus have the opportunity of more direct contact with the patients in their own homes. Miss Grace, of the local V.O.N., made the suggestion that the public health nurses be given the opportunity of "refreshing" their knowledge of hospital technique by being permitted to attend classes and do practical work in the institutions. A "refresher" course for instructors was suggested by Miss Duffield, of the Vancouver V.O.N.

Interesting points arising from the findings of the last annual meeting held in Vancouver, were cited by Miss Randall, chief among these being the resolution put forward for world peace, the affiliation with mental hospitals for training in this work, and the question of Dominion registration. Of the 2,000 registered nurses in British Columbia, too few subscribed to "The Canadian Nurse," Miss Randall said, further emphasizing the matter which had already been spoken of by Miss Fairley.

VALUE EMPHASIZED

The value of "associations" was emphasized by the registrar, who added that nurses have too long worked and thought as individuals, but that much more could be accomplished by a definite interest in the associations to which they should belong.

Sister Mary Gregory, of St. Joseph's Hospital, spoke in appreciation of the work of the public health nursing service. Miss Herbert's vote of thanks to the visitors was seconded by Miss Mirfield and carried unanimously. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The council will meet at the Nurses' Home this morning at 10 o'clock.

Miss E. Toynbee was in the chair at the opening of the meeting and extended a cordial welcome to the visitors.

PERFORMING FEES UNJUST

Judge's Report Recommends Appeal Tribunal for Adjustment of Tariffs

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (P)—Finding fees charged for performance of musical works controlled by the Canadian Performing Rights Society were excessive in some instances, although satisfactory in others, Judge James Parker, of Toronto, has recommended establishment of an appeal tribunal in a report made public today.

The tribunal would approve tariffs of the society from time to time before they became effective, and would determine disputes arising out of performance in public.

NOT ALWAYS FAIR

For instance, the commissioner finds the 1935 rates were too high in regard to theatres; the present tariff was satisfactory to large hotels, but very unfair to small hotels, and a return of 8 cents for every licensed radio receiving set in Canada would provide a fair revenue to the society.

Three further major recommendations were made by the commissioner:

1. Canadian authorities and composers be recognized by the Canadian Performing Rights Society Limited "in some way so that it would be possible for them to have their repertoire included in the repertoire of the society, and to derive the benefits that the Copyright Act intended to confer on them."

WOULD AMEND ACT

2. Amendment to the Copyright Act to prevent vexatious and unwarranted legal proceedings by inclusion of a clause similar to section 40 of the Patent Act, 1927.

3. Further amendment to section 17 of the Copyright Act "to make certain societies fully exempt from infringement and from the payment of performing right fees, notwithstanding the fact that they pay a fee to the individual performers, providing they do not lend themselves to promoters." (These societies include agricultural exhibitions or fairs, churches, colleges, schools and religious, charitable and fraternal bodies.)

COMMISSIONER'S APPOINTMENT

Appointment of the commission was made last Spring following allegations that exorbitant rates were charged by the society, incorporated in 1925 and now controlling close to 1,000,000 works, musical, literary and dramatic. Reports of Judge Parker following hearings held last year at Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Halifax, Moncton, Winnipeg and Regina.

NINE WOMEN WIN SEATS

Six Are Conservatives—Duchess Defeats Another Feminine Contender

LONDON, Nov. 15 (P)—Westminster was assured of the feminine touch and the women's word by Britain's general election voters, but the touch will be lighter and the words perhaps less frequent than those to which the last House of Commons gave heed.

Only nine of the sixty women candidates obtained seats. In 1931, eighteen out of sixty-two were successful. The line-up for the next session will be six Conservatives, one Laborite, one Independent and one Independent Liberal.

DUEL OF WOMEN

A feature of this year's voting was the campaigning of woman against woman. In the Kinross and Westmorland division of Perth and Kinross the Duchess of Atholl, Conservative, retained her seat by defeating Mrs. C. L. Macdonald, Liberal, with a majority of 5,169, only slightly reduced from the 1931 figure. Miss Irene Ward held Walsford for the Conservatives against Margaret Bondfield, the doughty Labor campaigner.

Miss Ward's election, Viscountess Astor's success in Plymouth Sutton, and the victory of Miss Florence Horsburgh in Dundee were recorded last night. Miss Eleanor Rathbone already had received an acclamation in the English combined universities.

FRIDAY'S VICTORIES

Besides the Duchess of Atholl's triumph, four others emerged from today's ballot-counting. Miss Thelma Casale, Conservative, was re-elected in Islington East, a London borough, defeating a Liberal and a Laborite. Miss Ellen Wilkinson, whose name is legendary in Labor's ranks, redeemed Durham, Jarrow, for her party. Mrs. H. Tate, Conservative, won in Somerset, Frome, and in Anglesey, Miss Megan Lloyd George was returned.

The women's contingent is one of political veterans. Except for Miss Wilkinson, all sat in the last House, and she was a member of the one before that. But defeat was by no means the exclusive fate of the Tories. Such seasoned campaigners as Mrs. S. A. Ward, Conservative; Miss Bondfield and Mrs. H. Shaw, another Government supporter, lost out in the battle for places to right or left of the Speaker.

Columbia W.A. Hears of Work in Mission Fields

Mrs. D. M. Duncan Speaker at Board Meeting at St. Paul's Parish—Winners in Doll Contest Announced—Christmas Bales to Be Packed

That life in India brings a realization of the Bible scenes and incidents, which sheds a new light on them, was the point most ably illustrated by Mrs. D. M. Duncan, principal of St. Margaret's School, who was the speaker at the afternoon session of the Columbia W.A. diocesan board meeting held in St. Paul's Parish Hall on Friday.

Mrs. Duncan had the privilege of working in association with the noted missionaries, Miss McNaughton and Miss De Blois, in Kaengra, her own missionary training being concluded by ill health, but her period of training left a never-to-be-forgotten impression upon her mind, Mrs. Duncan said.

The diocesan president, Lady Lake, who was in the chair, expressed the appreciation of the audience of Mrs. Duncan's deeply moving address.

VISITED SCHOOLS
In her report of the Dorcas conference held during the jubilee annual meeting of the Dominion board, Mrs. F. G. Brimer outlined the recommendations sent forward to the board which received endorsement and constitute a progressive policy to be carried out. A new undertaking by the Dominion board was the furnishing of the medical hospital which the Indian Department is building at Moose Factory, a northernmost point, and an addition to a mission which was established 100 years ago.

Mrs. Brimer described her visits to the new Shingwauk School, Sault Ste. Marie. She also visited the eight-year-old school at Peigan, Brockville, and the Blood School, which the diocese of Huron supplies with outfits and furnishings, was inspected.

EXPRESSES THANKS
The diocesan president, in expressing thanks to Mrs. Brimer, said that the real value to the whole W.A. is Mrs. Brimer's intimate knowledge of these schools and other missions in the Western provinces as the result of her visits and inspections.

The diocesan president reported having attended meetings at various branches Up-Island. Mrs. Wilfrid Hartley accompanying her and addressing girls' branches, their united efforts already bearing fruit in the organizing of two girls' branches. A hearty welcome was accorded to Miss Foster, of Westwood, who took her place on the platform as second vice-president at the morning session.

The Corporate Communion service was held in St. Paul's Naval Church at 10:30 o'clock, with Rev. Alan Gardiner, celebrant, assisted by Rev. E. M. Willis, of St. Saviour's, Victoria West.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Weaver, read a letter from Mrs. Slater, in which reference was made to the proposed date of the diocesan annual meeting, which, after discussion, was provisionally decided upon as March 10, subject to approval by the bishop.

The Prayer Partners' secretary, Miss M. Henley, gave notice of a plan being sent to each branch to insure continuous prayer on St. Andrew's Day, November 30. The Columbia Coast Mission Magazine secretary, Mrs. Philip, reported the need of books for the library on the Ms. Columbia, to be left in Room 22, Memorial Hall.

DOLL CONTEST
The junior secretary, Miss G. Checkley, reported the successful winners in the doll-dressing competition, from eight years old and upward. Fifty-six dolls were dressed and prizes were awarded to Marjorie Cross, St. Mary's, Oak Bay; Greta Molin, St. Saviour's; Helen Burgess and Lorraine Marson, St. Michael's, Royal Oak; Joyce White-oak, St. Luke's; Robina Prior, St. Paul's; Helen Malcolm and Janet Bird, St. Matthias; Genevieve Nix, St. Mark's; Jacqueline Eberts, Chemainus; Bernice Lohr and Nancy Sharp, Prospect Lake; Dorothy Evans and Dorothy Hamersley, Somenos; Mary Wilson, Cowichan Station; Penelope Bailey, Westholme; Barbara Lane, Cathedral Branch; Kathleen Davies, St. John's; and Lois Bourget, James Bay.

Special prizes were awarded to Shirley Donahue, Chemainus; Gladys Kawaguchi, Alert Bay; Janet Pattison, St. Mary's; Rose Anderson, St. Alban's; Jean Scott, St. Columba, Strawberry Vale.

The dolls will be exhibited at the bazaar in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday, November 20. The Dorcas secretary, Miss Sill, reported having dispatched bales weighing half a ton to the Prairie diocese of Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, and Saskatchewan, and to Rev. A. Sweetman, Endako, B.C. Christmas bales will be packed on December 3, but gifts should be sent not later than November 26.

The board meeting will be held on the second Friday in December, with a Corporate Communion service at 9:30 a.m. in St. Barnabas' Church, a morning session only. Members were asked to note the change of date.

"Have you any unemployment in Grimsby Gulch?"
"Nothing else," answered Cactus Joe.
"But you have a general store."
"It's only a blind. We have to keep traveling salesmen coming along so as to bring new money into the poker game."

Tells Group of Douglas Social Credit Proposal

Y.W.C.A. Current Events Branch Quizzes Rev. Owen L. Jull, Apostle of Proposed Economic System, After Address Yesterday Afternoon

Using as his basic argument that the fault with the present economic system is the world's lack of purchasing power to buy goods, Rev. O. L. Jull, apostle of the Douglas Social Credit scheme, yesterday afternoon devoted more than an hour to explaining the proposed system to the Y.W.C.A. Current Events group. Mrs. P. B. Scurrell was in the chair, and following the main address many questions were asked.

"There is never enough money to buy the goods that are for sale. This is widely-known as the flaw in the present system," Mr. Jull argued before assuring his audience that Douglas Social Credit had no intention of taking anything from anybody, of interfering with anybody's liberty, of overturning the present banking system. It simply meant, so far as Canada was concerned, the distribution of $12 to every man, woman and child in the country, to provide them with the wherewithal to purchase the necessities of life, thus keeping the wheels of industry moving.

THREE PRINCIPLES

Douglas Social Credit offered three proposals: national money, a just price and national dividend. In explaining the source of the dividends, Mr. Jull said that the basis of credit was goods brought into existence, and that payments would replace as much as was withdrawn by purchase, national discount creating money exactly in the required quantity, and adding it to the money stream in such a way that it would perfectly balance the price stream. If banks could issue paper money, as they had done in the past during emergency and without disastrous results, why could not a nation do it? Douglas Social Credit would make it possible for the nation to put any required amount of money into circulation, but not one cent more than there were goods for.

Mr. Jull spoke of the wholesale "dumping" and even destruction of food and other commodities that went on today simply because there was not enough money to buy them. Under Douglas Social Credit, $100,000,000 worth of money would be created and put in the banks; $25,000,000 of this would be available for dividend.

Answering the criticism that people would use their money foolishly, Mr. Jull said that some people "made fools" of their money now, and probably the same proportion would under Douglas Social Credit. But most people would want to work, just as most people did now. "Don't believe the stories about $25," the audience was advised. Whether a person was rich or poor, they still would receive the $12.

CAUSES WAR

The chief cause of war was the need for bread, it was argued. The average person did not want to fight. Douglas Social Credit would do away with the waste and destruction of food; it would do away with poverty; it would adequately feed people, Mr. Jull claimed.

Under the existing system, money was no longer regarded merely as exchange; it had become a commodity. And the fight for possession of this commodity had created much of the friction in the world today. Until this friction was set right, the proper distribution of goods could never come about.

"We don't want to socialize the banks. The bankers do their work so well it would be absurd to take the money away from them. All we want is to place the money under the control of the Government," it was argued. There was a definite weakness in any system that had $100,000,000 worth of goods on the market with only $75,000,000 in money to buy those goods. Douglas Social Credit planned to create the money necessary to make up that shortage and put the remaining $25,000,000 worth of goods at the disposal of the people.

Under a battery of questions after his address, Mr. Jull laughingly stated that he would not like to speak to that group again.

Does Scripture give any indication that the person referred to in the statement 'Libia and Ethiopia shall be at his steps' is Mussolini, or some other person yet to come? Do you believe that Mussolini is 'the King of the North' referred to in Daniel's prophecy, or has Daniel's prophecy now closed with all time periods checked off?"

"Do you think we are now having the final warning of 'the time of the end of the Gentiles, and is the average Christian awake to the serious implications of the coming year, 1936?"

Read His Testimonial

PROMINENT C.P.R. MAN SUFFERED WITH ASTHMA FROM INFANCY

Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from asthma since infancy and have tried many of the medical treatments of the past, but with no permanent relief. Your medicine, Harris' Cough Mixture, was recommended to me by a friend, and I decided to give it a trial.

It is almost eight years since I took the first bottle of your medicine, and after one treatment I was able to enjoy a full night's sleep, which was something I had scarcely ever enjoyed during my lifetime. I continued the treatment for over two years, reducing the dose as time went on, and today I can say without fear of a contradiction, I have never had a recurrence of asthma, and my weight has increased about fifty-three pounds since I started Harris' Cough Mixture.

This letter I would like to place before the public, because I have absolute confidence that the medicine will do the same for others as it has done for me. I have been instrumental in recommending the use of this medicine to hundreds of people in the city of Vancouver but I can not reach the many sufferers outside the city excepting by this method.

Yours very truly,
HARRY S. DUNCAN.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

AVERAGE VS. EXPERT

I am convinced that there is no essential difference between the average good player and the expert, so far as mental equipment and bridge knowledge are concerned. The real difference lies in the care, persistence and thoroughness exercised. There is no problem of bidding or play which the average player is unable to solve; no involved mathematical formulae, no esoteric reasonings are required.

Consider the thought processes of an expert who picks up the following hand:

♠ A Q 10 6 3 2 ♥ — ♦ A Q J 6 2 ♣ K 8

His partner, North, deals and bids one club; his right hand opponent bids one heart.

He first attempts to visualize all the possible high card holdings that his partner can have to justify an opening club bid. To this end, he takes count of the missing aces, kings and queens (jacks are considered only in the most delicate final weighing). He finds that these honors are missing from his own hand:

♠ K ♥ A K Q ♦ K ♣ A Q

Since his partner's suit is clubs, it is logical to place him with at least the ace (one trick accounted for).

If the queen is with the ace, counting one and a half tricks together, he must have either the heart ace or both missing kings to bring his holding to the prescribed two and a half honor tricks. It is vital to discover which of these is fact. Now, how to go about it?

Of the several bidding devices at his command he wisely chooses the one most apt to bring him the vital information of whether his own heart void is duplicated in value by heart strength in North's hand. Thus, he "overcalls in opponent's suit," bidding two hearts.

If the response is two no trump, his future bidding will be tempered by the fact that one of North's tricks is in hearts and will be virtually worthless in the play of the hand. But let us suppose that North bids three clubs, that South bids three spades, and that North raises to four spades.

Now that North has had two opportunities to bid no trump and has not done so, South assumes that he holds no strength in hearts and must, therefore, hold the kings of both diamonds and spades. South uses the 4-5 no trump convention to make sure of the club ace, but actually the inference is quite clear without this precaution. The grand slam is a "cinch."

WHEN TO "INSULT" A PARTNER

West, in the hand shown below, he could not bring himself flagrantly to insult the sweet young thing who sat opposite him. Knowing she could properly make him would be so that a signal by him would be a horrible "slam" at her bridge acumen, he courteously refrained. It is to be suspected that in the future he will be less gentle and more forceful.

Neither side vulnerable. South, dealer.

I am convinced that there is no essential difference between the average good player and the expert, so far as mental equipment and bridge knowledge are concerned. The real difference lies in the care, persistence and thoroughness exercised. There is no problem of bidding or play which the average player is unable to solve; no involved mathematical formulae, no esoteric reasonings are required.

Consider the thought processes of an expert who picks up the following hand:

♠ A Q 10 6 3 2 ♥ — ♦ A Q J 6 2 ♣ K 8

His partner, North, deals and bids one club; his right hand opponent bids one heart.

He first attempts to visualize all the possible high card holdings that his partner can have to justify an opening club bid. To this end, he takes count of the missing aces, kings and queens (jacks are considered only in the most delicate final weighing). He finds that these honors are missing from his own hand:

♠ K ♥ A K Q ♦ K ♣ A Q

Since his partner's suit is clubs, it is logical to place him with at least the ace (one trick accounted for).

If the queen is with the ace, counting one and a half tricks together, he must have either the heart ace or both missing kings to bring his holding to the prescribed two and a half honor tricks. It is vital to discover which of these is fact. Now, how to go about it?

Blue Ridge Mountain Girl to Face Trial For Father's Death

Law of Virginia Hill Folk Broken by Twenty-One-Year-Old Girl—Spanking Causes Bitter Quarrel and Slaying

WISE, Va.—Dogmas of the Virginia Blue Ridge mountaineers will be brought into court here when a twenty-one-year-old girl goes on trial charged with murdering her father in a bitter quarrel which developed after the law of the hill folk—that an unmarried woman shall not be outside the home after sunset—had been broken. The defendant is pretty Edith Maxwell, school teacher, whose trial opens on Monday. It will be a story of the struggle between the family code of the mountaineers and the infringing freedom of modern youth.

Miss Maxwell has been held in the Wise County Jail since the slaying last July 21. The mountain girl learned the soft feel of "store clothes" while she attended normal school in the "outside world." She experienced life that was directly opposite to the code of "the Pound"—tawdry spattering of mountain shacks where she resided. She could not reconcile herself to accept again the hill code that it was indecent for young girls to be out after dark.

TRIED TO SPANK HER

She is charged with beating her father, Trigg Maxwell, fifty-two, to death with a shoe, at their cabin near the "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," when he attempted to spank her for staying out until nearly midnight.

But that is only the technical points in the case.

The true battle when Edith goes on trial before H. A. W. Sken, the spectacled mountain judge, is between the eight o'clock curfew of "the Pound" and the right of modern youth of come and go as it pleases.

Miss Maxwell says she killed in self-defense. Her attorneys, H. W. Dotson and A. A. Sken, will base her case on doctrines of the modern world. It will be a stubborn last stand of the Blue Ridge Mountains against the invading dogmas of the outside world.

MOTHER ALSO ACCUSED

Miss Maxwell will take the stand with hopes of freeing herself and her forty-eight-year-old mother, who also is accused in the death of the village "amity."

The country school teacher said she will tell how on Saturday night, July 20, she came into Wise and met young, strapping Raymond Mead, her twenty-two-year-old neighbor. She asked for a ride home in his automobile.

Miss Maxwell reached home shortly before midnight. Her father, she said, was angry with her for keeping late hours. The creed of the mountaineers and modern youth were thrown together in open conflict.

The father believed in the curfew tradition of his forefathers—that unmarried girls and women, of whatever age, even those of twenty-one who earn their living by teaching school, must be in the home by sundown. To ignore it is admission of indecency and a disgrace of conduct.

AGAINST MODERN THINGS

The teacher said her father had resented every mode of new living brought to "the Pound." He was displeased with her going away to school at East Radford, Va. He condemned even the highways which are invading the hill country, his daughter said.

Miss Maxwell said her father lectured her and attempted to beat her. There was a furious argument. Miss Maxwell resisted, and to protect herself, seized the nearest object.

By strange irony, she grabbed up a high-heeled slipper bought while attending normal school. She allegedly beat her father on the head with it. During the night he died.

State attorneys say the girl, her mother, and her eleven-year-old sister, Mary Catherine, tried to deny the quarrel. They said Maxwell fell, striking his head on a meat block. Physicians who examined Maxwell found he was struck four times on the head.

HELD WITHOUT BOND

Miss Maxwell and her mother were arrested. The mother later was released on bond. The girl was held without bond, and later, according to officers, confessed striking her father.

Thad D. Greer, the middle-aged, kindly-looking prosecuting attorney, said the state will attempt to prove the girl had threatened the life of her father numerous times.

A jury will be selected from the hill folk along the "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," where resided, in days past, Devil John Wright, the "Jud" Tolliver of fiction made famous by John Fox, Jr.

COMEDY-FARCE WELL RECEIVED

St. Mark's Players Present "The Ghost in the House" at Quadra School

"The Ghost in the House," a comedy farce, produced by the St. Mark's Players under the direction of Trustee Percy E. George, was presented by the Quadra Parent-Teacher Association in the Quadra Street School auditorium last night.

Special scenery and stage effects, together with a competent cast of amateur artists, made the presentation one of considerable merit.

The play, which is for the mutual benefit of the St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. and the Quadra Parent-Teacher Association, will be repeated, this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

The cast of the play is as follows: Annie Murphy, the maid, Miss Hilda Graham; Spigot, the butler, Albert George; Henry Witherspoon, Harold George; Rebecca Witherspoon, Ellen White; Marion Davis, Miss Nora Mullen; Frank Witherspoon, William George; Harry Davis, Reginald Porter; Miss Glancy, Arthur Matman and the Ghost—???

Special music was rendered by Mrs. Ruby Moore and her orchestra before the curtain and between acts.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

THE COMPLICATIONS OF FLU ARE SERIOUS

It is during the cold or wet weather that influenza or "flu" attacks us and it is only good sense for us to give a little thought to it before and after it arrives in our community.

As a matter of fact, the organisms causing influenza are thought to be always present with or in us, but something occurs in us, in a large number at one time, or in our surroundings or even the climate that seems to make the organisms more powerful or ourselves weaker in resistance, and the flu spreads almost like a fire.

Now the first point to remember is that flu in itself is not really a dangerous ailment. When it attacks us there is a "tired" feeling, body aches all over, there are mild chills and a rise in temperature. Very often there is an inflammation of the nose and throat—a "head cold."

You are only sick two to four days, the temperature goes down, and while you still feel tired you are practically free of symptoms.

However, it is not the flu itself that is so serious, but the ailments that come with or follow after it—pneumonia, broncho-pneumonia, pleurisy, heart weakness, inflammation of the sinuses adjoining the nose, inflammation of the middle ear followed by a "mastoid" as it is called. In severe epidemics pneumonia with failure of the circulation due to an overworked heart is a frequent complication.

It is because of these complications that influenza or flu is so carefully treated by physicians generally. Thus the biggest point in the treatment is rest in bed until the danger of complications is past. During the first two or three days of the temperature high plenty of liquid is given—three or four quarts daily.

Very little in the way of drugs is given except when pain or sleeplessness are present.

Latterly it has been felt that anything coming in contact with the patient should wash the hands and gargle the throat before mixing with others.

The point, then, is that as flu greatly resembles the common cold, the only difference at first is that the examination of the blood shows less white corpuscles in flu, the serious complications which may accompany flu should be remembered and getting to bed and staying in bed should be the first thought when the cold or flu attacks you.

The little girl came home from school the other day looking very unhappy.

"Some people," she announced, glumly, "have parents they can be proud of."

Her mother, very much startled, asked what on earth she meant.

"Well," exclaimed the downcast youngster, "Glady's mother was a circus performer, and you were only a high school teacher!"

The Romance Racket

SYNOPSIS

On her twenty-fourth birthday, Carol Kennedy, coming into a vast fortune, suddenly announces to her relatives that she is giving up her old home in Connecticut, where she has lived as an orphan, to move to New York to find happiness and freedom. Among those attending Carol's birthday party are her cousin, Kathy Presnell, and her fiancé, Dr. Owen Craig, whom she is marrying for social prestige. Unattractive Carol, who knows nothing of sartorial, pretty clothes and beauty, secretly admires Owen. Carol attends her old nurse when she tells her of her plan. In New York Carol looks up Isabel Brown, an old school chum now in the real estate business, to obtain help in finding an apartment. Isabel suggests a cocktail party and eagerly helps Carol purchase proper clothes for the occasion. Carol tastes her first cocktail and meets Gary Crandall, attractive playboy, who shows an interest in her. He suggests they leave the party.

CHAPTER VI

Carol sat stiffly beside Gary in the low-slung roadster and wondered what would happen when she had to talk. What could she say?

"Friend of Jeannie's?" Gary broke the silence.

"No. I was with Isabel Brown."

"Good egg, Isabel," he commented. "Lots more sense than most of that crowd."

"Then you like girls with sense?" she asked timidly.

"Please lady!" Laughingly he pretended to ward off a blow. "Not too much sense. Where do you suppose I'd get off in a case like that?"

Carol appraised him and then: "Why I think you are . . . are very attractive."

"And I see that you are a lady of felt. She wanted this man to like her.

Rather desperately she said, "I'm going to buy some backless evening gown." He nodded approvingly.

Encouraged she went on, "Red ones!"

"Not all of them, surely, Carol!" he mocked.

"Oh, no," she answered gravely, "but most of them."

There was something pathetic about the girl. Gary studied the loneliness in her face.

"Are you unhappy, Carol?" he asked.

"Unhappy? . . . why I don't suppose I ever thought about it before but lately . . . I . . . yes something strange has happened to me . . . as though I were another person."

"Perhaps you've fallen in love," he said.

"Oh, no," she answered readily. "You see I don't know any men except my uncles and . . . and my cousin's fiancé. He's a doctor."

"And the doctor? Tall and handsome?" he asked casually.

"Yes," she nodded her head violently. "Very. He's dark and . . . and . . . well I know what he looks like but I can't describe him."

Poor kid, Gary said to himself, and then leaning across the table:

"Hasn't anyone ever made love to you?"

"I haven't. I've never been in love."

"I haven't. I've never been in love."

"I haven't. I've never been in love."

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m. and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m. from 12:45 to 2:45 p.m. and from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m.

Trying to show off will cause some people to come to grief. Egoism will meet with rebuff, and braggadocio is likely to foment trouble. Any pretence of possessing some power of influence is likely to be questioned this day. Social activities will be instrumental in bringing old friends together, inspiring in some a sentimental regard that perhaps has not existed previously. This is an auspicious day for indulging in some form of sport where skill is the chief requisite.

This should be a good day for all forms of inspirational writing. Avoid jumping too quickly at any kind of conclusion, as errors in judgment are liable to occur. Married and engaged couples, as well as those suffering from Cupid's darts, will find they will reap a worthwhile reward, if they display a sweetness of disposition. If a woman and November 16 is your birthday, you are the type of person that must have some objective in life, if you wish to be happy.

Map out for yourself a course to pursue, for if you do things in an aimless fashion, you may live in a world of confused thoughts. Social aspirations you will find are all very well in their way, but have little of substantial value to offer. You have probably latent artistic, literary or histrionic talents that can be developed advantageously. Through very little exertion you can unfold a magnetic personality. Through the concentration of effort on your part, large sums of money may come to you. Through musical composition, or voice culture, educational or dramatic work, or some specialized line of clerical employment you may win your laurels. If care is used in selecting your mate, your marital life should be filled with happiness. The child born on November 16 must be taught during adolescence not to be restless or impatient. Do not let either become a fixed habit with the youngster. If a man and November 16 is your natal day, you are instinctively a happy-go-lucky individual. If you will learn to take life seriously, your versatility and ability ought to enable you to accomplish wonders. As a schoolmaster, clergyman, lawyer, musician, soldier, engineer or salesman you perhaps will achieve the best results. "You are the only survivor of the shipwreck? How were you saved?" "I missed the boat."—Moustique. Charlezo!

The snuff habit, more or less, has died out, but here is a story of those old days. Two men out riding amused themselves by trying to excell each other in making puns about people they met. Presently, two farmers came along. The first rider drew up, and pulling out his snuff box, said to the farmer, "Do you snuff?" To which the farmer replied, as he took a pinch. "Ah, I snuff." "And you?" said the second rider to the second farmer. "Ah, I snuff, too." Then, added the witty one, "you are a pair of snuffers." One of the elephants at the zoo was coughing badly one morning, so the keeper was instructed to give it a bucket of water, into which a bottle of whisky had been emptied. "How's Sally?" he asked his fellow-keeper, next morning. "Oh, just the same," was the reply, "but all the other elephants are coughing this morning."

DUNDEE ISLAND, Antarctica, Nov. 15.—"I have made a test flight with both Canadian pilots of the airplane, Polar Star. Herbert Hollick-Kenyon and James Lymburner are both splendid men and expert pilots. The machine performed excellently and the snow surface was just right for a take-off."

"During the flights we were in constant touch by wireless with Walter Lantz, the operator on board the Wyatt Earp."

"Our luck has been since arriving at Dundee Island. The weather has been fine. The good weather is local, however, and, from 3,000 feet, the visibility was limited by a hazy horizon."

"We confined our flights to the near vicinity of Dundee Island. To the westward, the high ridges of the Graham Land were silhouetted against the setting sun. Eastward a heavy cloud bank blocked our view."

"Our full complement of provisions and all our emergency trail equipment is on the plane. There remain only a few last-minute navigation problems to put on paper for reference during the flight across Antarctica, and we will be ready to start our flight into the unknown. If the weather is good, we should be off on Saturday."

RUSSIA SAILING
OUTBOUND TODAYLiner Leaving Late This Afternoon

couver—Shipboard Here

Sailing for Far East ports, the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Russia, Capt. W. T. Kinley, R.N.R., commander, is scheduled to leave Rithet Piers at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. The liner is due at the local dock at 4 o'clock to embark passengers and take on mails and cargo.

C. Choberg, one-time proprietor of Choberg's Shipyards on the Industrial Reserve, was a visitor in Victoria yesterday. Mr. Choberg is now located at Shushartie Bay, where he is operating a boat-building plant. He left last evening for Vancouver.

Delayed by heavy weather on her way across the North Pacific, the Blue Funnel Line Ss. Talthybius, in order to make up as much time as possible, did not call at Victoria yesterday. The liner reached William Head shortly before noon and as soon as pratique was obtained, proceeded direct to Vancouver.

ISLAND LINE
DOING WELLSuperintendent of E. & N.
Tells About History and Line's Equipment

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15.—How the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway was conceived at a time when Victoria was rumored as Pacific terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, how the railway ultimately was built in 1886 by the Dunsmuir coal interests and in 1906 taken over by the C.P.R. as part of its system, was told to the Canadian Pacific Association at its monthly luncheon at Hotel Vancouver today by J. A. Kennedy, Superintendent of the E. &amp; N. Railway.

The 217-mile Vancouver Island line, with its coal mining, logging and agricultural services, Mr. Kennedy said, is playing as big a part as ever today in the economic life of Vancouver Island, enjoying a 31 per cent increase in passenger traffic during the current year and is well ahead of last year's figures in respect to freight traffic, both for export and long haul.

"The last spike on the E. &amp; N. was driven by Sir John A. Macdonald on Friday, August 13, 1886," Mr. Kennedy stated, referring to its "Cranella" day, November 7, "so that we are almost a year behind you in that respect."

CURRENT ASSETS
Listing the E. & N.'s current system, Mr. Kennedy declared his Island road had twenty-two locomotives, operated car ferry slips at Ladysmith and Nanaimo Bay, served fourteen logging camps and mills and had at Nanaimo Creek a steel cantilever bridge, removed from the main line at Clisco Creek, B.C. This bridge, he said, was a historical adjunct, inasmuch as it was the

The number of persons employed on the road averages 350 and the average annual payroll was $410,000. The line operated an average of twenty-one trains a day, mostly log trains.

Accompanying Mr. Kennedy to Vancouver for his address were W. M. Stokes, E. &amp; N. divisional engineer, and B. F. Allare, agent at Port Alberni.

APPEAL IS DISMISSEDSupreme Court Rules Paterson Steamships Liable
For $137,000

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—The Supreme Court of Canada today dismissed the appeal of Paterson Steamships, Limited, Fort William, to reduce from $137,484 to $69,297 its total liability for loss of cargo to the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, and Universal Insurance Company, Limited, Winnipeg.

Both shipments of grain involved were severely damaged when the Paterson Company's vessel Sarniadoc was stranded and became a total loss in November, 1929, on Main Duck Island at the eastern end of Lake Ontario. The Sarniadoc at the time was en route from Port Colborne, Ontario, to Montreal. The shipment, being carried for the Wheat Pool, contained 5,991 bushels of barley and 56,594 bushels of wheat, and the vessel had in her holds 37,391 bushels of wheat, the property of the Richardson Company.

Today's judgment said the steamship company is liable for about $77,000 damages to the Wheat Pool and approximately $60,000 to the Richardson Company.

LIGHTKEEPER
SAFE ON SHORESearch Pilot Announces
Whereabouts of Donald Sayre

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15.—Anxiety concerning the safety of Donald Sayre, keeper of the lighthouse at Lonely Cox's Reef in North Lake Winnipeg, was dispelled here today when it was learned he had reached shore safely and was en route to civilization.

Wireless messages from Pilot Mike de Bligny, searching for Sayre, said the light tender had been safe and sound all of last week at Berens River settlement. No mention was made of the assistant, but it was presumed he was with Sayre.

The two were to have been taken off the reef, 180 miles north of Winnipeg, more than two weeks ago by the steamer Lu-Berc, which became encompassed in quick-forming ice. It had been feared their provisions would become exhausted before relief reached them.

De Bligny messaged that Sayre had succeeded in crossing fifteen miles of thin ice from the lighthouse to Berens River early last week. Wednesday, the brief message continued, Sayre started to walk to the end of steel at Riverton, 120 miles south. He is expected to reach there Sunday or Monday.

STRUCK BY
HEAVY SEAJapanese Freighter Returns
With Starboard List—Deck
Lashings Held

Struck by an exceptionally heavy sea at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, the Japanese freighter Ss. Kohnan Maru, Captain Y. Yamamoto, bound for Australia ports with a cargo of British Columbia forest products, sustained some damage to several after port and starboard stanchions, causing part of the deck load of logs in the vicinity of No. 4 hatch to slip to starboard and giving the ship a fifteen-degree list, which was later reduced through the tireless efforts of the vessel's crew to eleven degrees.

The Kohnan Maru was heavily laden with lumber, logs comprising the load on deck. There was a heavy sea running all day Thursday, according to the story told on the arrival of the ship here, and the big one crashed aboard when the ship was about twenty-five miles off Tatooch. Stanchions were broken, but the deck lashings held everything, not one log being lost overboard. Not wishing to take any chances with the heavy list, Captain Yamamoto put his ship about and headed for Victoria.

The freighter arrived alongside Ogden Point Assembly plant piers at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. King Brothers, agents for the ship, stated last night that there might be some slight damage to the bulkhead where the slipping deck load pressed against it, but nothing serious is anticipated. The extent of the damage, if any, will be disclosed with the removal of the logs in the after part of the ship.

Discharging will commence this morning, the local agents stated last evening. They expect to have a survey made, the cargo restored and the ship ready for sea again by Tuesday next.

WESTERN BOYS WILL COMPETE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15.—Six British Columbia teen-age boys were on their way to Toronto over Canadian Pacific Lines today to compete with youngsters from all parts of Canada in junior stock judging competitions at the Royal Winter Fair.

G. H. Sugden, of the Canadian Pacific Railways agricultural department, Winnipeg, left here last night to conduct the youngsters over the long trip. At Agassiz, four Chilliwack boys, Leonard Zink and Leslie Coulter, of the Chilliwack Puredorf Club, and Ray Annis and Ronald Carman, of the Chilliwack Swine Club, boarded the east-bound "Dominion," and today at Armstrong they were joined by Donald Young and Frank P.

SEAL HERDS
GROW LARGETotal Number of Fur Bearers
Now 3,000,000—Worth
$22 Each

SEATTLE, Nov. 15 (AP).—United States Fisheries Bureau figures today indicated the Pacific Ocean's seal herds, now wintering in the unknown vastnesses of the South Pacific, have increased from 250,000 to 3,000,000 individuals in twenty-four years' treaty protection.

The bureau's motorship Penguin officially ended the 1935 sealing season when she returned eleven employees from Pribilof and Aleutian Island breeding grounds yesterday and was tied up in her Lake Union Winter haven.

The Fisheries Bureau announced this year's supervised take—$7,500 brought south by the navy cargo ship Sirius—was auctioned at an average of about $22, giving the 3,000,000 seals an aggregate value of about $66,000,000. In 1927, when the seal herds were estimated at 800,000, the pelts averaged $35, an aggregate value of about $30,000,000 for the combined herds.

VALUES INCREASED
Conserving the seal herds by treaty between the United States, Great Britain and Japan—who share in the auction proceeds—also has resulted in heavy increases in pelt values, although sealskins are less fashionable than formerly.

Lewis &amp; Dryden's "Marine History of the Pacific Northwest" records that the combined catch of the schooners Mary Ellen and Javorite, in 1884, totaled 4,382 pelts valued at $35,000, or $7 per skin. The Mary Ellen, manned by white men, broke all existing records by taking 2,300 skins that season; the Javorite, with Indian hunters, took 2,073.

Commercial seal hunting is forbidden now, and armed coast guard cutters escort the seals on their migrations. Slaughter is restricted to three-year-old bachelors.

Important Tussles Carded in Eastern Grid Circles Today

Toronto Argonauts and Sarnia Imperials Have Chance to Win Football Championships—Play-Off May Be Necessary in Big Four League—Attractive Card Billed

By ELMER DULMAOE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The fading Toronto Argonauts, Sarnia Imperials, and the fleet and fiery University of Toronto Blues, will answer the call today, to win their titles over again. Football is getting like that. You prove how good you are, and then you prove it again.

Argos, machine-like in attack, moved down the Big Four opposition without a loss in six grueling games. They looked great. Then Hamilton Tigers joined the scullery with a defeat, and Ottawa Roughriders caught the potential champions off balance the following week and administered another.

Perhaps Lew Hayman's team is going to win the Big Four championship anyway, but they're not to prove all over again that there isn't a better team in the vicinity. They play the Roughriders today in Ottawa, while Tigers entertain Montreal Wheelers. It will be a play-off if the Tigers and Scullers both win.

A Sarnia team, getting along pretty well without Normie Perry, Alex Hayes and Boob Molloy, twice defeated Balm Beach in the O.R.F.U. schedule, and that earned the Imperials a two-game play-off series with the Beaches. The record shows Balm beat the inexperienced Hamilton Cubs twice to qualify for the honor of playing Sarnia again.

It's something like that in the college circuit, too. Warren Stevens' Toronto brigade finished the schedule undefeated. Today they must gamble everything in sixty minutes of football against a Queen's team that managed to get one tie with the Blues and lost decisions to Toronto and McGill.

The programme is the most attractive football has offered this Fall. It involves all the contenders for Eastern honors, notably Argos, Tigers, Sarnia, and U. of T. It emphasizes rare drama, particularly at Ottawa, where the Roughriders, without a chance to finish first themselves, plan to throw Argos out of the running.

After today's intercollegiate game, the winning team will probably decide at once whether to continue in the Canadian play-downs. Queen's is believed ready to go on and the idea is making headway on the Toronto campus that the Blues are powerful enough to make a serious bid for the National championship.

Sarnia's mighty titlists are expected to build up a sizeable lead over Balm Beach, but Argos, shaken loose from any over-confidence, will be favored to beat the Roughriders this time and qualify for a play-off against Hamilton. The Tigers, likewise, will be favored to upset Montreal. Big Four competition is so tough, however, that nothing is certain.

Toronto is given the nod to win the intercollegiate championship.

BAY MEADOWS OPENS TODAY IN THE SOUTH

Twenty-One-Day Meeting Will Get Under Way—Azucar at Track

SAN MATEO, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP).—Bay Meadows track takes over the horse racing spotlight on the West Coast tomorrow, with the opening of a twenty-one-day meeting that has attracted more than a thousand gallopers, headed by Azucar, winner of the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap last Spring.

The track, opened a year ago, will present a racing strip recently treated with chemicals, and the operators confidently expect new Coast records to be set during the short meeting.

Several tons of chemicals were mixed into the dirt, with a resultant rubbery base that is expected to virtually eliminate the bugaboo of a muddy track. During recent heavy rains, the strip retained a firm base and dried out quickly.

Tomorrow's opening programme will be headlined by the Shrine Handicap, a run for routers over 1 1/16 miles. It will be for a $2,000 added purse with all ages eligible.

Nighbor Now Coaching

A few years back, Frank Nighbor was the idol of Ottawa hockey fans as centre for the great Senator team of other days. Here is an informal picture of the famed "Pembroke Peach" with his son, Francis Stanley, aged eight. Frank is now a successful coach, handling London Tecumsehs last season, and this year returning to Buffalo Bisons, where he had unusual success in former years. Nighbor's famed poke-check was one of the best in hockey history.

ANGLERS PLAN BIG JAMBOREE

Second Annual Event Will Be At Chamber of Commerce Next Thursday Evening

Plans have been completed for the second annual monster jamboree to be sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. It was decided at the meeting of the executive to hold this affair on Thursday, November 21, in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, commencing at 8 o'clock and continuing on until midnight.

The entertainment for evening will be in form of a Klondike Night, which will include games of roulette, house-housie, chuck-a-luck, horse racing and many other games of the days of '98. Vaudeville acts will also be staged, and those taking part in the performance will be dressed like those of the gay nineties. Dancing will feature the latter part of the evening's entertainment.

Due to the great success of last year's affair, the members of the organization were prompted to stage this second annual event. Officials predict an even better attendance than last year's when over five-hundred members and their friends were present.

It is an invitation affair restricted to members who will be allowed to bring a friend.

HANDS LOU SALICA ONE-SIDED BEATING IN FIFTEEN ROUNDS

Puerto Rican Awarded Fourteen Rounds in Scoring One of the Most Decisive Victories in Years in Division—Salica Out on Feet At Finish From Battering

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP).—Sixto Escobar, a masterful little piece of fighting machinery from Puerto Rico, easily lifted the bantamweight championship tonight from Lou Salica, of New York, in a fifteen-round match in Madison Square Garden. Escobar floored Salica in the third round and gave the titleholder a terrific beating.

Salica weighed 117 pounds and Escobar 117 3/4.

Escobar, pouring a stream of left hands at Salica from start to finish, outboxed, outpunched and outsmarted the champion at every turn. He put Salica down for a count of nine in the third round with a volley to the head and piled up a lop-sided margin on points.

Salica's one spurt of effective fighting, in the ninth and tenth rounds, was short-lived, but he stood up gamely under heavy punishment throughout the last five rounds. The champion was bleeding badly from a damaged nose and so weakened by the battering that he was barely able to keep his feet at the finish.

DECISIVE VICTORY

Escobar, on this Associated Press score sheet, took fourteen of the fifteen rounds—all except the ninth—and scored one of the most decisive victories a championship match has developed among little men in years.

Escobar's triumph reversed the outcome of their bout for bantam title recognition by the New York State Athletic Commission, as well as the National Boxing Association, last August. The New York boy gained a disputed decision then and he was no match tonight for the sharp-hitting, twenty-two-year-old Puerto Rican.

The Garden was less than half filled for the return match, with an official attendance of 8,077 and gate receipts of $18,460.

The crowd was in an uproar throughout, however, as Escobar administered a sound thrashing to the former Olympic boxer, fastest and cleverest little man from the West Indian fighting ranks since Kid Chocolate flashed into prominence. Escobar gave a brilliant exhibition of boxing and punching.

The Puerto Rican's left hand had Salica dizzy and on the defensive in the first few rounds, so much so that the champion was a mark for a series of right crosses that put him down on his haunches in the third. Salica rallied from this third knockdown and kept his feet for the rest of the evening but seldom was able to deliver a sustained counter-attack.

Salica was groggy under a series of uppercuts in the fifth. His nose was cut by a left jab in the seventh. Repeatedly Escobar landed a half-dozen left jabs or hooks without a return. Once he held firmly to the ropes with his right and pumped lefts into the champion's face, while Salica blinked and the crowd roared. At times it looked as though a nest of hornets had broken loose and swarmed around Salica, so completely was his chin covered by the challenger's left hand.

Salica, tossing caution to the winds and with a knockout wallop his one chance to turn the tide, rallied furiously in the ninth. He fired for his rival's jaw with both hands, forcing Escobar to the ropes. This offensive lasted through the

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR THURSDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The American inventor of the wireless—Dr. Mahlon Loomis (1826-1886), dentist and pioneer in wireless photography, invented and discovered the system of sending electric signals to a distance without wires. He carried his first two-way "wireless" communication between two mountain peaks in Virginia eighteen miles apart in 1888, six years before Marconi was even born. The utilization of his invention met with a series of severe hard-luck. He enlisted powerful financial backing in 1899, but lost it in the financial panic of the Black Friday of that year. Chicago financial backing enlisted two years later was canceled through the great Chicago Fire of 1871. Two years later Congress and the Senate both passed bills in his favor, but failed to make any material appropriations. He finally died heartbroken of a renewed failure in 1886. Nine years after his death, Marconi picked up where Loomis had left off through a series of misadventures.

Twenty-Two-Foot Corn—The best tall corn record that has yet come to my attention is the crop grown by S. D. Cornell, of Grandview, Washington, in 1924. An acre of his crop was carefully measured off, and found to contain ninety-eight rows, eighteen inches apart, and each one 275 feet long. On this acre he grew 62,700 pounds of corn—actual weight after harvest. Nearly all the stalks were over twenty feet tall, and some of them measured twenty-two feet—so tall that a six-foot man couldn't reach the first ear on the stalk.

Heron Tops Golf Field in Annual Pro-Amateur Meet

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15 (AP).—Colin Heron, a genial young man who "comes out" of the Klamath Indian country of Oregon once a year for a two-week golf spree, sloshed over the rain-soaked University golf course today to best a score of Vancouver's crack linksmen in the annual city pro-amateur contest.

It was the first time Heron has played golf since he won the city title at Eureka, Cal., last year, and the first time he has ever played in the rain.

He almost missed at that. Planning to start home with Mrs. Heron after a holiday jaunt here, he dropped by the clubhouse to "see the boys take off." The temptation was too much and he entered, carding a 74 for the eighteen holes.

SEATTLE K. OF C. STRONG FOR TONIGHT'S GAME

Dominoes to Face Big Test at Local Gym This Evening

Dominion Titleholders to Tackle Powerful Sound City Hoopsters in Main Attraction—Locals in Fine Condition—Two Preliminaries—First Game Carded for 7:15

Victoria's hopes for another Canadian basketball title, the Dominoes will go before the public for the second time this season tonight at the High School gymnasium when they match shots and teamwork with the clever ball-handling Seattle Knights.

BILL ESTER

The Sound City lads and the national titleholders will appear in the main fixture on the Victoria and District League card and will step on the maple court at 9:15. Lynn Patrick's Aces will clash with Forsters Fur in the opener in the intermediate "A" division at 7:15 and they will be followed by Lake Hill and Tillamook in the men's senior "B" section.

Advance information received here from Steve Antonich, veteran player and now manager of the K. of C. quintette, by Secretary Frank Elliott, of the local league, states that the visitors have assembled one of the strongest aggregations in Seattle this season, and one which will make the Dominoes step to the limit to gain victory. They will outweigh the locals by several pounds and three of the squad will tower over the Dominoes' tallest player by a couple of inches.

LOCALS' LINE-UP

Manager Dave Nicol watched his Dominion champs sail through a hard workout Thursday and he reports that all are ready for action with the exception of Doug Peden, regular guard, who is still out with an injured hip. Doug may get into the game for a brief period, but it is doubtful. Alex McKeachie, reserve forward, will most likely start on the rear flank along with Chuck Chapman, who has been a stumbling block to opposing forwards in exhibition and championship games for several seasons past. Manager Nicol will open with his first string trio on the firing line, namely, "Red" Martin and "Porky" Andrews on the wings and the tall, high-scoring Art Chapman at the jump position.

Three clever reserves will be on the bench waiting to jump into the game when the signal comes. There will be Axel Kinnear, Ollie Goldsmith and Jack Mottishaw, three lads who are showing up brilliantly in training sessions.

COMPLETE TEAM

The complete K. of C. line-up follows: Mark Antonich, forward, formerly played with the University of Forty thousand dollars was reported to have been paid for Cumming and $35,000 for Griffiths.

Bike Riders Bunched in Grind at Chicago—Peden Slips Behind

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (P.).—The Ge's man invaders, Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, were still out in front after five days of riding in Chicago's international six-day bicycle race, but saw their margin cut to a lead in sprint points tonight.

In a wild evening series of sprints, three other teams pulled up on even terms with the leaders in distance covered. Figured on the points in sprints, the little known team of Honeman and DeFillipo was second. The Canadians, Torchy Peden and little Jules Audy, were three laps behind the pace-setters but held a wide margin in points.

ACCLAIMED BY ALL
EXPERIENCED PILOTS AS THE WORLD'S BEST AUTOGIRO PILOT, CAPT. JAMES G. RAY HAS FLOWN PRACTICALLY NOTHING
BUT "FLYING WINDMILLS" FOR THE PAST SIX YEARS.

AS GENERAL MANAGER OF PITCAIRN AVIATION, HE
PIONEERED THE AIR MAIL LINE FROM NEW YORK TO ATLANTA, NOW FLOWN BY EASTERN AIR LINES.

HE IS TODAY TEST
PILOT FOR PITCAIRN
AMERICAN AUTOGIRO
BUILDER. HIS SPECIALTY
IS LANDING HIS STRANGE
CRAFT IN UNUSUAL PLACES,
SUCH AS A WAREHOUSE ROOF IN DOWN TOWN NEW YORK.

JIM RAY is certainly America's greatest demonstrator of vertical descent. He can bring an autogiro right down the plumb line without the slightest bit of forward speed. He has landed his flying windmill in more unusual places than any other birdman. Warehouse roofs, platforms on post offices, White House front lawns, all are airports to him.

Vertical descent in the autogiro is not an inherent feature. True enough, the giro will descend vertically, but its rate of descent will be too high for safe landings unless an experienced hand is at the controls so as to halt the descent at just the right moment so that the

THE GAME IS NOT WORTH THE CANDLE

"It is a poor sport," wrote George Herbert in 1840, in his compendium of wisdom called "Jacula Prudentum," "that is not worth the candle." This is the earliest publication of the idiom pointing to something not worth doing, indicating an undertaking whose returns do not begin to repay for the efforts expended.

That the expression was in spoken use long before its initial recorded appearance cannot be doubted, when we consider its origin, to which the aphorism of George Herbert quoted furnishes a clue.

We have it in allusion to gambling games played by candle-light.

The cost of the candles would be borne by the winner. On occasion, however, the stakes were so picaresque or the winnings so meagre that there would be no gain. The game was not worth the candle.

As they were racing at terrific speed down a hill, the motorist suddenly shouted about the noise of the car: "What instrument do you play?"

The musician shouted in reply: "The violin!"

The driver crouched over the steering wheel, peering ahead. He yelled: "That's a pity!"

"Why is it a pity?" demanded the musician.

"It's a pity you don't play the harp!" yelled the motorist. "The brakes don't work!"
